

The spectre of Transrail rises once again

Reiterates desire for truck to rail facility on Olin facility

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - A proposal for a truck-to-rail facility in Wilmington on the site of the Olin property lingers, awaiting a new response from the Surface Transportation Board (STB), following a decision in May that stalled the project and related filings from both the proponent and the town. At stake, a possible solid waste rail transfer facility.

New England Transrail (NET) revitalized its interest in the Olin Chemical Superfund Site last year, seeking a "general trans-loading facility for multiple commodities," which might include, but would not be limited to, items such as lumber, plastics, steel, paper, woodchips, clay, brick, and some types of hazardous waste."

In an August filing, NET has continued to pursue the same proposal; despite a May decision from the STB saying the environmental work at the Olin site is not yet complete.

As before, the description of the proposed facility states that the "commodities to be trans-loaded at NET's proposed facility will depend on the markets at that time."

Additionally, the proposal states that "should NET decide to develop and operate a solid waste rail transfer facility in the future, that facility would be separate, distinct, and in addition to NET's other transloading facilities."

NET goes on to say that any portion of the facility engaged in transferring solid waste, trash, would comply with the Clean Railroads Act (CRA) of 2008.

Local man injured in hit-and-run

Andover woman will be summonsed to an arraignment

By JAYNE W. MILLER

ANDOVER - A Wilmington man was seriously injured in a hit-and-run accident in Andover last Wednesday afternoon. State Police located the driver suspected in the incident not far from the scene.

A State police investigation revealed that Adam Schainost, 22, of Wilmington, was driving his motorcycle south on Route 125 in Andover when the driver of a Mercedes driving north veered into the southbound lane, struck the motorcycle, and fled the scene. State Police were called to the scene at 3:19 p.m.

Schainost was transported by ambulance to Lawrence

Shawsheen Tech Bomb Hoax

Suspect identified, turned over to police

By JAYNE W. MILLER

BILLERICA - Last Thursday morning a bomb threat was found at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School, prompting a pronounced police response and student evacuation. School officials later identified the student who wrote the note.

Billerica Police Chief Daniel Rosa stated that a written bomb threat was received shortly after 8:00 a.m. Rosa sent school resource officers and "a good portion" of the police on duty to the school. Mutual aid was received from neighboring towns that send students to Shawsheen Tech, including Tewksbury, Wilmington, Bedford, and Burlington. Those units aided in managing the numbers of students outside during the evacuation period.

When officers arrived on the scene they had to first search and clear the area where students would be evacuated to, evacuate the students, then search and clear the building before students could return to their regular schedule.

During the evacuation school officials put forth an investigative effort, says Rosa, to, "run the threat to ground and found out, in fact, that it was a prank."

There were no further disruptions in the school day though a police presence was maintained on campus for the remainder of the day.

"There will be action on the school's end and there will be legal action in the juvenile court system," said Rosa.

Students granted limited use of electronic devices

Policy includes iPods, cell phones, laptops and teacher discretion

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Last week the School Committee passed by a vote of 5 to 2 to implement a student-initiated policy that will allow expanded use of electronic devices, but balanced with a hefty dose of teacher and administrator discretion.

The new policy, written by School Committee member A. Quincy Vale, was created in response to students who came to administrators and the Committee looking for freedom to use their cell phones at lunch in the cafeteria.

The policy allows students to have in their possession a silenced personal electronic device such as a cell phone, Smartphone, audio-visual player/recorder, or a laptop, tablet, handheld, or pen based computer. The use of any of the items during instructional time is prohibited unless a classroom teacher or other school official has provided authorization for their use.

Use is allowed in the cafeteria and in the cafeteria lobby, though the principal has the authority to limit or prohibit.

Officials believe that fewer electronic devices will be confiscated from students than before the policy went into

A look back at Wilmington of yesteryear...

Lefty Gilday's infamous trip

By LARZ F. NEILSON

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - William "Lefty" Gilday, Jr. died in prison in Shirley on Sept. 10, 2011 nearly 41 years after a bank robbery in Brighton in which a Boston police officer was killed. Officer Walter Schroeder was shot when he responded to a silent alarm from the State Street Bank on September 23, 1970.

After the robbery, Gilday was the subject of the largest manhunt ever conducted in New England. He led police on a spectacular ten-day chase that went through Wilmington and Tewksbury, where he crashed a car and then kidnapped a local man.

Gilday, Stanley Bond and Robert Valeri had been paroled from prison in 1970 into an experimental program called STEP, Student Tutor Educational Program. Gilday was enrolled at Northeastern University. Bond and Valeri were at Brandeis University, where the three became involved with the Weather Underground, a radical political group bent on the violent overthrow of the United States government. New Life Sciences wing opens at Shawsheen Tech

Ribbon-cutting ceremony held at the school on Tuesday

By JON BISHOP

BILLERICA - On Tuesday, Shawsheen Valley Technical High School, which serves Bedford, Billerica, Burlington, Tewksbury and Wilmington, unveiled its new state-of-the-art health and science wing during a ribbon-cutting ceremony held at 2:00 p.m. in the foyer of the wing.

The project, which was undertaken by architectural firm Knight, Bagge and Anderson, took about two years - between planning and construction - to complete.

The building, which was originally used for the school's diesel technician program, now houses facilities for healthcare technicians, medical and laboratory technicians, and dental assisting technicians. The facility will enhance these programs through expansion.

The school decided to eliminate the diesel program after monitoring labor market standards and student enrollment.

At the outset of the ceremony, Charles Lyons, the Superintendent and Director of Shawsheen Technical, said, "We are very fortunate here at Shawsheen Tech to have such support from our communities."

He also discussed the state partnerships. The project, he said, received about 56% of its funding from Massachusetts.

Steve Grossman, the State Treasurer, praised Lyons's leadership, stating that, under his tutelage, Shawsheen Tech is poised "to create a new generation of citizens." He lauded Shawsheen Tech's understanding of the "21st century innovation economy."

"This is the definition of leadership," Grossman said.

General Hospital with serious injuries, but State Police say he is expected to survive.

Jinhi Kim, 66, of North Andover, was allegedly driving the 2002 Mercedes Benz S430 that struck Schainost. State Police located her just half-a-mile from the scene of the accident. State Police will charge her with Leaving the Scene of a personal injury accident, Negligent Operation of a Motor Vehicle, and Marked Lanes Violation. Kim was not arrested at the scene, and instead will receive a summons to court.

A spokesperson for the Massachusetts State Police could not indicate why Kim was not arrested when she was located.

The spectre of Transrail

And that's about as detailed as NET gets in its filings.

In May the STB issued a decision that clearly stated that, "the Board will continue to defer its environmental analysis and decision on the petition until relevant reports have been issued by EPA."

The STB also denied Wilmington's request for dismissal, deeming it an "inappropriate request in a comment on a status report" and advising the town to seek relief in an appropriate filing if it so desires. The decision also required NET to file a status report by August 23, 2011.

NET, which has been interested in the Olin property for several years, resurfaced last month with a filing to the STB, just in time for the deadline, requesting that the STB completes its environmental review and grants a Petition for Exemption.

"In response to the May 2011 Decision, NET hereby informs the Board that it intends to pursue its Petition for Exemption," according to the filing. NET has told regulators that it would seek a land-use exemption to operate a solid waste rail transfer facility in accordance with the CRA in the future.

It's more of the same," said Cairra. "It looks to me like a placeholder."

NET's response was dated August 22 for an August 23 deadline.

Last week Wilmington's Town Counsel, Daniel Deutsch and John Foskett, together issued a scathing response pointing out the vagaries of the proposal, lack of revised plans, and irresponsibly optimistic timelines and work requirements for remediation of the Superfund site.

"[B]oth the Environmental Protection Agency and Wilmington advised this Board that NET's report materially misrepresented the status of the continuing environmental investigation of the Olin Superfund Site;

WHY TRUSTS STILL MATTER

The new estate tax law passed last year makes it much easier for most families to distribute their assets without a lot of fancy machinations. There's less of a need for couples to utilize a bypass trust to make the most of the federal estate tax exemption. That individual exemption has been increased to $5 million this year (with an adjustment for inflation next year); and any unused portion of the exemption can transfer for the surviving spouse.

Here's the "but": State taxing authorities may not be as generous, so a bypass trust may still be needed. Trusts may be needed, too, to take care of children from a previous marriage. A trust with restrictions may help an imprudent heir handle an inheritance more wisely. Trusts can also offer protection against creditors; for instance, if a trust's language places assets beyond the reach of trust beneficiaries, their creditors can't get at them either. Still other trusts may be helpful for larger estates.

that the investigation was very much incomplete; and that the numerous deficiencies in NET's project documentation made meaningful assessment of its potential environmental impacts impossible," wrote Town Counsel in the Objection and Comments filing with the STB.

"The process is nowhere near completion, as data review is on-going and remedial options have not been developed," continues the report. "Moreover, NET still has provided no useful details concerning the configuration and operation of a reconstituted project."

"We continue to raise our objections and EPA raises their objections, and the beat goes on," Cairra told the Crier. "I don't expect that there will be any action soon one way or another. I would trust that the transportation board will at least take into consideration what the EPA is saying in terms of remediation."

The EPA also weighed in on the matter, reiterating that the agency cannot determine whether or not this site is appropriate for reuse by Transrail for the proposed purpose until all the data has been collected, reviewed, and the draft report submitted for comment by the public and finalized by the EPA.

"The EPA cannot even address appropriate environmental remedies for the site until it has completed that statutory process," Town Counsel Daniel Deutsch told the Crier.

If the STB were to approve NET's plan it would "complicate and undermine that statutory process and would be inappropriate," added Deutsch, paraphrasing the EPA. That process could be complete as early as 2012. EPA also urges STB to conduct its own full environmental impact report due to the complicated nature of the site and its history.

"From Wilmington's standpoint, of course we agree with that and we've said as much. We take issue again, as we did before, with the quality, completeness, and lack of integrity in Transrail's proposal, which is grossly incomplete and misleading, now and as before," said Deutsch. "There is no way from the paperwork to understand what their project would look like after it is completed and how it would be operated. That's an additional reason to take no action on their petition even after the environmental work has been completed on the site by the EPA."

effect, since clear guidelines will make it possible for students to use their devices at more appropriate times. Now, any student using a device will have it confiscated and parents must retrieve them. The new policy will continue the practice of parents needing to pick up misused devices from the school.

The policy specifically prohibits the use of a device's audio or video recording functionality without express approval from an administrator or a teacher.

Vale explained during discussions of the proposed policy at the last August meeting that the only person who can give permission to record a minor without their permission is a parent, or the administration acting in loco parentis.

Indeed, though passage of the policy proceeded relatively unhindered, with just Chairperson Peggy Kane and member Kathleen Carroll voting against adoption, a vigorous debate occurred at the School Committee's previous meeting.

"I have not felt this strongly about a policy issue since I've been on this committee," said Kane. "I don't why it is educationally sound to allow a kid to use a cell phone."

Kane's predominant concern was that students would spend more time texting than talking to each other during lunch breaks as well as the expanded use potential in the classroom.

Vale pointed out the need for a policy to manage student technology use now, as the landscape is evolving daily.

"I think we are fighting a pitched and almost losing battle," said Vale. "We are trying to come up with a policy to give teachers the right to authorize the use of [electronic devices] in the classroom, and give an outlet to the students allowing them to communicate with other students at an appropriate time of the day. We have to teach some responsible and non-disruptive ways to use these technologies. We are totally losing control of this and we need to come up with some sort of sensible policy."

Administration officials performed a survey, indicating the community would support the new policy. Of 2,900 families the district received 302 responses, which, at 12 percent, is statistically acceptable. The vote turned out 83 percent in favor and 17 percent were not.

The district also asked parents about future technology to see if parents would consider providing students with a laptop. 67 percent said yes, and 32 percent said no.

Kathleen Carroll also raised the issue of affordability.

"What if that family can't afford a data package; they don't just have one kid, they have four kids. But another kid with the data package got the answer for the teacher," said Carroll, adding that the policy should only be used if every student in a classroom has a device.

Vale responded to Carroll, interjecting, "with all due respect, this is not an equity based argument. Parents with means should not be prohibited from providing devices to their students when families without means cannot do it."

The Committee will review the policy in six months to evaluate its effectiveness.

Lefty Gilday's infamous trip

were also involved with the National Student Strike Force.

Bond, who had been a helicopter pilot in Vietnam, was an anarchist, preaching violent revolution. He hatched a bizarre plot to help the Black Panthers.

Students Susan Saxe and Katherine Power became involved, along with Michael Fleisher, who had just graduated from Brandeis.

They robbed a National Guard Armory in Newburyport on September 20, 1970, where they stole weapons, ammunition and a truck. They then torched the armory. Three days later, they robbed the Brighton bank of some $26,500.

As they fled the bank, Officer Schroeder arrived at the bank and shots were fired. Gilday claimed he had not fired his gun and any shots fired were solely to discourage any pursuit. Nonetheless, one bullet hit Officer Schroeder in the back. He later died from his wound.

Gilday was pursued through northeastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. The chase went north to Gilday's hometown of Amesbury. He then went up to Hampton, N.H. where he kidnapped an elderly woman. He drove her to Salem, N.H. where he released her and took off in her car. From there he went down Route 93 and he next turned up in Tewksbury. It can be presumed that he exited Route 93 at Route 125 in Wilmington and then drove up Salem Street to Tewksbury. On a curve near Carter's Greenhouses, north of Tanglewood Drive, the car went off the road, and Gilday took off into the woods.

Auto dealer Vinnie Coyne didn't like being stuck in traffic, and Gilday's accident backed up traffic down to Shawsheen Street. Coyne, sitting in a line of cars, saw a man come walking down the road near the Tewksbury Airport (currently the site of Tewksbury Country Club). As he passed, Coyne asked him what the holdup was.

"They're looking for me," was the answer. "Lefty" Gilday jumped into Coyne's car, got down on the floor and put a gun to Coyne's crotch. "And you're going to get me out of here."

Coyne had a local reputation as a tough guy, but he wasn't about to challenge

Gilday. This guy had allegedly just killed a cop.

Coyne had an interesting background. He grew up on Vernon Street, on the Tewksbury - Wilmington town line near Silver Lake. He got into amateur boxing, and had the nickname "Punchy."

In 1956, Ben Ristuccia opened a new Ford dealership, Wilmington Ford, in the building that is now the Firestone tire store. Vinnie Coyne went to work for him as a salesman. He found his niche. Before long, Coyne was winning sales awards, including the "Top Hatter" award for New England.

After a decade with Wilmington Ford, Coyne went off on his own, opening a business in South Tewksbury, selling new cars, with no affiliation to a particular brand. He built a showroom just north of where Salem Road joins Main Street.

Coyne's encounter with "Lefty" Gilday had a safe ending. They got through the police roadblock and "Lefty" didn't shoot him. Before long, they were in Lowell. While stopped at a light, Coyne noticed Gilday shift a bit. Coyne took advantage of the distraction and jumped out of the car. He didn't look back. Gilday jumped into the driver's seat and took off.

Three days later, Gilday was captured in Worcester. Indicted on 69 charges, he was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death. The sentence was later reduced to life in prison. He died there on September 10, 2011 at age 82, suffering from Alzheimer's Disease. A Boston Globe article quoted him as offering condolences to the Schroeder family, and saying he wished he had never gone to the bank that day.

Bond was captured in Denver, four days after the robbery. He was killed in an explosion in Walpole State Prison in 1972 while awaiting trial. He was supposedly making a bomb to be used in an attempt to escape prison.

Valeri and Fleisher were both captured and testified for the prosecution.

Saxe was captured in 1975. She served five years in prison. Power lived under assumed names for 23 years, and then turned herself in in 1993. She served six years in prison.

"The person that did it may have thought it was a prank, but it disrupts a lot of people, it disrupts a school day, and we take these things very seriously," said Shawsheen Tech Superintendent Charles Lyons.

Lyons did confirm that the student identified as issuing the threat, which had specificity relative to timing, was a male juvenile. The student was found by school officials within two hours and was turned over to Billerica police and a parent was called.

"Fortunately, things worked out well. The hoax was averted and now he's got a real challenging future in front of him," said Lyons. The student is not currently in attendance at the school.

In a school without any study halls, like many Massachusetts high schools, students are with teachers 100 percent of the time, with the exception of a few minutes before school starts and when they utilize hall passes for the lavatory.

"Students, for the most part, get it," said Lyons. "I think students are sick and tired of the gamesmanship. With a 97 percent average daily attendance, they don't like people interfering with their education."

Letter to the editor

Thanks, to the Wilmington Fire Department

Dear Editor,
On behalf of my husband, and myself, we want to extend our deepest thanks to the Wilmington Fire Department, who responded so quickly to our home on August 28th when Irene struck and knocked a tree onto our house and two cars in our driveway at 63 Adams Street. Having not been home at the time, we learned through a phone call what had happened and were assured by our parents that the fire department was there and they were taking care of everything.
Their quick response prevented any further damage and made it safe for us when we arrived home an hour later. If it had not been for that, this already very stressful situation could have been much, much worse.

Thank you to the members of the Fire Department for taking the time to do everything you could for us, to secure the situation and to make sure everything and everyone was safe. We appreciate the hard work and dedication that you provide to our community.

Our Sincerest Gratitude,
Christine and William Nee

Kenney lands journalism job

BILLERICA - Christine Kenney's experience at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School encompassed just about everything the Billerica-based school has to offer.

The Tewksbury resident initially found a career interest through the school's exploratory program, discovered a new path after her experiences in the classroom and then used both sets of skills throughout her college career and beyond.

Kenney, whose older sister Candra graduated from Shawsheen Tech in 2004 with a concentration in health technologies and is now a nurse at Winchester Hospital, always wanted to attend Shawsheen, but wasn't sure what her concentration would be.

She knew one thing for certain, she didn't want to study exactly what her sister did.

But after going through the school's exploratory program, which exposes new students to each of the school's vocations, Kenney just couldn't help herself, she jumped right into the health program.

"It was the last shop I took [as a freshman]," she said. "I loved it. I thought it was really interesting."

Kenney started learning about nursing and other aspects of the field at Shawsheen, but her time in her honors English class helped steer her career in another unexpected direction, journalism.

"I always loved to write," she said. "And my teachers are Shawsheen really taught me how to write and introduced me to journalism."

"Chrissy Kenney arrived in my sophomore class quietly bursting with questions, but she lacked the sense of confidence she needed to ask them," Sciacca said. "Once she started to trust herself, there was no stopping her."

Kenney wrote for Shawsheen's publication, the Ram Page, and also enjoyed writing essays in classes with English instructors Leah Marquis and Kristin Sciacca. Writing ended up being a small part of an active schedule Kenney maintained at Shawsheen as she also played both basketball and volleyball and was successful in Skills USA, winning a gold medal at the national finals in Tech Prep as a sophomore, taking a silver medal at the state competition as a junior and serving as a voting delegate as a senior.

After high school, Kenney attended Worcester State University where she wrote for the college's newspaper, serving as the publication's editor as a senior. She had an internship at New Worcester Spy Magazine, an online publication, while also working part time as a correspondent for the Wilmington and Tewksbury Town Crier newspapers, where she wrote both features and news stories.

Kenney didn't let her background in health go to waste either, working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) at Cooperative Elder Services throughout college.

A 2007 Shawsheen graduate, Kenney earned her Bachelor's degree in communications from Worcester State in 2011 and it didn't take her long to land a full-time job in the field as she was named the new reporter for the Belmont Citizen-Herald newspaper in June.

The weekly publication is part of Gatehouse Media New England.

"She had a natural sense of how to use language both artistically and efficiently, a precarious balancing act that she has evidently been able to sustain into her present career," Sciacca added. "I am so very proud of her current success and am confident that this is just the beginning."

"It's been interesting," said Kenney, who writes weekly stories and also posts content online regularly for the Citizen-Herald. "I have really enjoyed it so far."

Recently, Kenney helped the Citizen-Herald provide comprehensive coverage of the community's 10th anniversary ceremony of the Sept. 11 attacks.

Christine Kenney

Kenney's story interviewed a family that lost its son on American Airlines Flight 11. "It was very emotional," Kenney said.

"I've worked with Chrissy for about two months now and am very impressed at how well she has taken on the very challenging position of being a Belmont reporter," said Belmont editor Joanna Tzouvelis. "Everyone who has been interviewed by her, in particular, the family who lost their son in one of the 9/11 attacks, says how much they like her and are always pleased with how she writes their stories. She needs very little direction when given an assignment and always meets her deadlines."

Kenney said she is anxious to see her career in journalism evolve and could see a future possibly writing for magazines.

"I love feature writing," she said. "I really like writing about people and their stories."

As for Kenney's story, she's happy that it started with Shawsheen Tech.

"I love that school," she said. "It was instrumental in where I am today."

Let's Hear it!! Your Two Cents...

Every school day morning, I get stuck behind a school bus on Woburn St. Well that's life. However, the bus makes two separate stops picking up middle/high school students at the corner of Allenhurst Way and Elm St. There are two houses and perhaps 100 yards between these two stops. There is a sidewalk on the same side of Woburn St as both stops.

There are perhaps 10 cars behind the school bus every morning. Sometimes more, sometimes less. Doesn't it make a little more sense to combine these two stops? All those cars (and buses) would burn a little less gas (saving a little time and money and reducing waste gases to the atmosphere). The kids will get a tiny bit of exercise (about 100 yards worth)...well maybe not because their parents drive them to the bus stop. Oh, if the parents of one street complain, the bus can pick the kids up on Allenhurst Way on weeks starting with an odd number and Elm St. on weeks starting with an even number.

Wilmington

The Wed., August 24 2011, Town Crier front page read: New High School Building Site: NO OIL. It should have stated no oil in the building area. Yes, the Town will cover the contaminated ground with a parking lot. The oil is still there, and somehow this is acceptable. The definition of SITE is The Building? not the entire area? Is there a clean up cost set aside?

Wilmington

(Editor's note: the Town Crier stands by the headline, which included a clarifying sub-headline reading: "Preliminary boring results show no oil in the ground slated for new building construction." Furthermore, the body of the article thoroughly explained the conditions of the site. It should be noted also that the Town has consistently asserted its intention to follow all appropriate stipulations and guidelines in the existing Activities and Use Limitations regarding remediation of the contaminated area beneath the existing structure.)

National Grid files to lower natural gas rates for Mass. customers

WALTHAM - With autumn starting this week, home and business owners are thinking about the winter months to come and the cost of keeping themselves and their families warm during the coldest months of the year. National Grid's natural gas customers in Massachusetts can't keep the cold weather at bay, but they can expect to pay less for natural gas during the winter heating season. National Grid has asked the Massachusetts

Department of Public Utilities to approve new rates, which could save customers approximately five percent on their monthly bills between November 1 of this year and April 30, 2012.

"Our goal is always to purchase natural gas at the lowest price possible and pass the savings directly on to our customers," said Marcy Reed, president of National Grid in Massachusetts. "We're pleased to be able to do this when our customers need it most."

National Grid natural gas customers can expect a 10 percent reduction in the cost of gas, which translates into a net decrease of approximately five percent for a typical residential customer using 780 therms of natural gas through the six month winter heating season. Actual monthly bill amounts will be determined when the DPU sets rates in October. Customers can save even more on their energy bills by taking advantage of the energy efficiency programs and advice available through National Grid. Go to PowerofAction.com to learn more.

For customers having problems paying their energy bills, payments programs or assistance are available for many customers. Go to NationalGridUS.com and click on the name of your state. On your state homepage, click on "Customer Service" then click "Payment Assistance" for information.

AIM treated to self-defense demonstration

WILMINGTON - Members of the group Access is Mandatory got a special treat last Tuesday when head instructor Kyoshi Todd Keane, of the Academy of Traditional Karate in Wilmington, volunteered to give a special self-defense seminar. Todd said, "It's important that everyone gets a chance to learn some realistic self-defense. It's wonderful that AIM invited us to do this self-defense class; I think it's great when we can give back to our community."

The seminar was attended by seven individuals, and was organized by Judy DiPalma, Jomarie O'Mahoney (she and her family train at the Academy), and Noreen Curdo (whose son AJ and husband Mark train at the Academy), as a joint effort between Access is Mandatory and the Women of Wilmington. Assisting Todd in teaching the seminar was Mark Dobrosielski of Bradford, a Sensei at the Academy.

The Access is Mandatory group is open to all individuals and families of individuals with disabilities, and provides a great environment to participate in social activities every Tuesday between 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus. For more information contact Bertha Deprez at 978-658-9063.

The Academy of Traditional Karate has been teaching traditional Karate in the community to students ages 3 and up for over 22 years, and is located on West Street in Wilmington. For information about classes, or if you would like to set up a self-defense class for your group, call Todd & Kristen Keane at 978-658-2077 or check out the Academy online at www.Traditional-Karate.com or at www.facebook.com/TraditionaKarate.

Local scouts learn hands on training at Arrow of Light weekend in New Hampshire. Local Webelos Scouts from Wilmington Pack 361 join 500 other Webelos Scouts and Parents for Hands-on-Training and Adventure in Northwood, NH. (l-r) James Ward, Tommy Wright, Sam Wilson, Joseph DeSario, Joseph Consorti, Johnnie Bumpus and Aidan Briere.

Local Scouts learn with hands on training at Arrow of Light weekend in New Hampshire

WILMINGTON - On September 16, 2011, seven Senior Webelos Scouts from Wilmington Pack 361 and their parents joined almost 500 other Senior Webelos Scouts and their parents from the Yankee Clipper Council for a weekend of camping and hands on training at the Wah-Tut-Ca Scout Reservation.

Wah-Tut-Ca Scout Reservation is the official outdoor training and recreational facility of the Yankee Clipper Council, Boy Scouts of America. Located in Northwood, New Hampshire, Wah-Tut-Ca provides an outstanding opportunity for adventure. The weekend was run by Arrow of Light Members.

Scouts learned about The Arrow of Light program and it gave the boys a small but significant, taste for the adventures of what boys scouts will hold for them at the Wah Tut Ca Scout Reservation.

During the weekend Webelos were given the opportunity to earn the requirements toward their Arrow of Light, Outdoorsman, Naturalist and Readyman Activity badges. They also participated in classes surrounding First Aid, BBs, archery, Indian lore, showmanship, cooking, knots, and Scouting Knowledge.

Boys and their parents were also treated to a true Wah-Tut-Ca style Dining Hall experience, and many other activities in and around camp. Hands on activities and games encouraged the boys to problem solve, and work together.

"We had a fantastic time and the boys did so well at what they were doing! We are proud of the work they did and everything they accomplished this weekend," stated Niki Wilson, Webelos II leader for Pack 361, Wilmington.

"Watching the boys work together with members of their own pack and surrounding Packs proves that Cub Scouts and Boys Scouts is still an amazing program for young boys. I was impressed by how well they worked together and the willingness to try new things," quotes Brooke Wright, mother of Webelos II Tommy Wright. "I'm proud of the things my son and the other boys in our den accomplished this weekend. This is what scouting is all about."

The Arrow of Light weekend allows the Webelos to understand teamwork, brotherhood, Scout spirit, and most importantly, fun, and makes for a great start in their Boy Scout endeavors. This weekend served as an introduction to the concept of "youth led" as opposed to "adult led."

The goal of the weekend was to foster a desire in these young Scouts to continue in the Scouting program and become tomorrow's leaders. Pack 361 Webelos Scouts meet Mondays at the United Methodist Church located at 87 Church Street, Wilmington. If you are interested in Scouting for your son or have questions about the program, please contact Jay Sheehan at james_sheehan@comcast.net.

The Boy Scouts of America prepares young people for life by providing the nation's foremost youth program of character development and values-based leadership training. The Scouting organization is composed of 2.7 million youth members between the ages of 7 and 21, and more than a million volunteers, in nearly 300 local councils throughout the United States and its territories. For more information, please visit www.scouting.org.

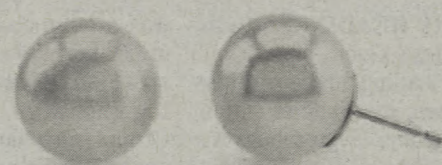

Top Secret Science & Math is back

WILMINGTON - Imagine a program where you learn the most amazing things and are so busy having fun that you didn't even realize you were learning! Top Secret Science and Math is just that program! Each class consists of experiments and demonstrations that will bring science and math principles to life. This program for children in grades 1 - 5 follows state guidelines for required curriculums, and is led by an experienced, professional science teacher.

Join us for the next session running Mondays, November 7 - December 12 from 3:30 - 4:30 p.m. in the Town Hall Auditorium. Cost is $65 for the six-week series.

Pre-registration is required. To register for this or other Recreation Department programs stop by Town Hall, Room 8. For more information, call (978) 658 - 4270.

OBITUARIES

Ruth M. Buck

Longest running caretaker of Baker's Island Light on Salem Sound

NORTH READING - Ruth M. (Stiles) Buck - 77, of North Reading and formerly of Malden, died at her home on Saturday, September 17, 2011.

Born in Boston, MA on June 21, 1934. She was the daughter of the late Hollis E. and Eva Marie (Hills) Stiles. She was raised in Malden and was a graduate of Malden High School and Tufts University.

Ruth worked for Compugraphic, Photon, Dymographics, Itel and as bookkeeper for Touch of Elegance Salon in Tewksbury. She has been a resident of North Reading for the past 62 years.

She was a single mother of four; she was independent and owned a boat in a time when women didn't own or run boats. Ruth was a caretaker of lighthouse property for thirty years and the longest running caretaker of Baker's Island Light on Salem Sound in Salem, MA. She spent thirty years rehabbing and maintaining that structure. She was a long standing member of the Lighthouse Society and was involved with a Lighthouse Preservation Group. She had a love of the ocean and boats and had always dreamed of being in the Coast Guard.

Family members include her sons, Lawrence E. Buck of North Reading and Robert L. Buck of Methuen and her daughter, Deborah R. Farrell of Methuen; her brother, Edwin H. Stiles of North Reading and grandchildren, Devon K. Gardner, Brian E. J. Buck and Rachel N. Buck. She was the mother of the late Andrew J. Buck.

Memorial service will be held at the Croswell Funeral Home, 19 Bow Street, North Reading on Saturday, October 1, at 3 P.M. Calling hours will be held prior to the service from 1 to 3 P.M. Memorial donations may be made in her memory to: Baker's Island Memorial Fund, c/o B.I. Association, 19 Noble Hill Rd., Beverly, MA 01915.

Richard D. Cox

Massachusetts State Trooper

WILMINGTON - Richard D. Cox, a retired Massachusetts

State Trooper & M.I.T. Campus Police Officer passed away surrounded by his family at his home on Monday evening, September 12, 2011. He was 74 years old. Richard was born in Winthrop, the son of the late Richard and Alice Cox. He grew up in Winthrop and was a graduate of East Boston High School. He served in the Army from 1955 to 1958. After the Military, he became a Trooper with the MA State Police. Some of his notable assignments were teaching self defense classes at the Police Academy, Security for President John F. Kennedy at the Hyannis Kennedy Compound, and as a member of the State Police Motorcycle Unit. He also worked at M.I.T. in their Campus Police where he retired in 1995. He served as President of the M.I.T. Police Association as well. He took great pride in his many years in law enforcement.

Richard was accomplished student of Martial Arts. He competed all over New England and Nationally. In 1964, Richard made it all the way to the semi finals of the Olympic Trials. He loved sharing his knowledge and experience with others. He was an instructor and helped found the Tohoku Judo Club in Somerville and Kogai Judo Club in Everett. He was the Associate editor of the Universal Martial Arts Magazine for many years. He shared his love of Judo with his wife, children, and grandchildren. It wasn't unusual to see Richard with someone in the family in the front yard practicing Judo moves and throws. He also enjoyed the ocean especially Gloucester and Maine. He would swim along the shores for hours. He was a talented model builder, which he shared with his grandchildren in his later years.

Richard had a strong Catholic faith and an unending devotion to his wife and family. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus. He was always an active parishioner at his church and taught religious education. He was a member of the Secular Franciscan Order. During his illness, his faith in God gave him comfort and courage to endure. He was a wonderful role model to his family. He worked hard to be a good provider, role model, and caring parent. His devotion to his family and wife will be a lasting example for his children and grandchildren. He will be lovingly remembered by all his family and friends.

Richard was the beloved and devoted husband of Marilyn A. (Rose). He was the loving father of Lyn McGarry & her husband Michael, Richard D. Cox, Jr. & his wife Christine and Doreen Loud & her husband Edward, all of Wilmington. He was the brother of Joan Cox of NY, Robert Cox of FL, and Linda Burns-Allen of Beverly. Grandfather of Danielle McGarry, Bill McGarry & his wife Brianne, Patrick McGarry & his wife Emily, Matthew, Kristen & Meagan Cox, Edward Loud, Jr. Brianna and Emily Loud. Great-grandfather of Aidan, Sean & Hailey McGarry. Son-in-law of Anne Rose of Wilmington, brother-in-law of Ted and Joyce Rose and Dottie and Donnie Carter. Also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Funeral from the Burns Funeral Home, 354 Boston Road, Billerica on Friday, Sept. 16 at 10 a.m. Followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Mary's Church, 796 Boston Road, Billerica at 11 a.m. Visiting hours Thursday 4-8 p.m. Interment in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

Memorials in Richard's name may be made to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105 or St. Mary's Church, 796 Boston Road, Billerica, MA 01821 For directions, obituary & online guestbook see www.burnsfuneralhomes.com and www.stmarybillerica.com

homemaker; loved the beach and the great outdoors

WILMINGTON - Avis M. (Nary) Galka, age 91, wife of the late Peter B. Galka, died Monday, September 19, 2011 in Lancaster, New Hampshire.

She was born in Wilmington, Massachusetts on January 27, 1920, the daughter of the late Elmer and Myrtle (White) Nary. She was the fourth of six children. Avis resided in Wilmington for more than 79 years before moving to Lancaster, New Hampshire with her husband in 1999.

Avis was a homemaker all her life. She loved the beach and the great outdoors. She also loved cooking, baking, swimming, camping, and driving. Most of all she loved her husband, her family and her dogs. She will always be remembered as a courageous woman; a loving wife, mother and grandmother; a great friend; a wonderful care giver and a shining example for all.

Avis is survived by her brother Norman Nary of Northwood, New Hampshire; her daughters, Avis Constantine and her husband Guy "Sonny" of Tyngsboro, Massachusetts; Donna Rooney and her husband John Silas "Si" Hopkins of Lancaster, New Hampshire; Dawne Marie Micalizzi and her husband Michael of Wilmington, Massachusetts and her grandson Sean Brennan — whom she raised as a son — and his wife Karen of Methuen, Massachusetts. Avis was also mother to the late Marlene Brennan of Tyngsboro, Massachusetts. Avis is also survived by seven other grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, one great great grandchild, many nieces, nephews, and her faithful Cavalier King Charles Spaniel, Ladybug.

Avis was also the sister of the late Elmer Nary, Frederick Nary, Violet Duggan, and Marjorie Kendall.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Friday, September 23rd at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington at 10:00 a.m. Interment in the family lot at Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting hours Thursday, September 22nd from 4-8 p.m.

Red Cross schedules blood drives in October

WILMINGTON - The American Red Cross will hold several community blood drives during the month of October. All eligible and new blood donors are encouraged to give blood. Blood donors are needed everyday to ensure an adequate blood supply for patients in need.

In October, all presenting donors will receive a $10 EMS Bucks Card, redeemable at participating Eastern Mountain Sports locations in Massachusetts and online at ems.com. Presenting donors in October can also enter to win a seven day Bermuda cruise for two aboard Norwegian Cruise Lines, courtesy of Colpitts World Travel and Norwegian Cruise Line. Prizes are not redeemable for cash and non-transferable. To make an appointment to donate blood, please call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or log onto redcrossblood.org.

In Wilmington, the drive will be held from 2:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on October 14 at the Congregational Church, 220 Middlesex Avenue Wilmington.

Local student leader receives training

WILMINGTON - Emily Bamberg, a sophomore at Wilmington High School, is one of the 35 student leaders across the United States who has been invited to join the Staff Development Seminars of the Student Leadership Training Program.

The Student Leadership Training Program sponsors leadership conferences for adults and student leaders. The conferences are intense five day workshops which bring together student leaders from all over the United States and Canada. The conferences are designed to increase self understanding and confidence; foster development of leadership skills; to improve communication skills; and to define the role of student leaders. This is a "hands-on" experience, as the student leaders are involved in a practical laboratory style experience.

The Coalition for the Advancement of Student Activities sponsors SLTP and is a non-profit organization formed by student activity advisers to develop leadership education. The SLTP was founded in 1990 and since that time over 9000 student leaders have attended the program.

This will be Emily's first leadership training experience. Her brother Marty and sister Danielle also attended the SLTP. Danielle also was a Leadership Trainer and was the one to convince her younger sibling to attend the camp.

Staff selection is only the beginning. Emily recently began the staff training program which will require her to successfully complete a 150 hour training course culminating in certification as a Leadership Trainer.

Tewksbury Police Department to conduct

Bicycle rodeo Oct 1 at Walmart

TEWKSBURY The Tewksbury Police Department would like to help ensure the safety of local children by hosting a bike rodeo at the Tewksbury Wal-Mart (333 Main Street) on Saturday, October 1 from 11:00 - 2:00 p.m. (rain date October 2).

On average, 250 children in the United States under the age of 14 die each year because of a bicycle crash. Another 300,000 children are treated in emergency rooms for severe head injuries. Many of these accidents could have been prevented if these children were riding safe bikes, wore bicycle helmets, and knew the basics about safe bike riding.

Along with the Tewksbury Police Department, Wal-Mart, Lowell General Hospital, AAA Merrimack Valley, and several local businesses are doing their part to decrease bicycle fatalities and injuries. At the rodeo, members from the Emergency Department at Lowell General Hospital will be educating the public- children, parents, and even adult cyclists- to the need for head protection. Tewksbury Police Department would like to not only encourage children to wear a bike helmet, but to also wear them correctly. Bicycle helmets can reduce the risk of head injury by as much as 85%. Wearing a bicycle helmet is such a simple way to help ensure your child's safety. Parents may think their children are safe riding around the neighborhood, however, research tells us that most serious bicycle crashes occur on a quiet neighborhood street.

Ten tips for safe bike riding: (from Consumer Product Safety Commission):

1. Always wear a bike helmet.
2. Stop and check traffic before riding into a street.
3. Don't ride at night.
4. Obey traffic signs & signals.
5. Ride on the right-hand side of the street.

6. Check your brakes before riding.

7. Give cars and pedestrians the right-of-way.

8. Wear light or bright-colored clothing so that motorists can see you.

9. Be extra careful turning left - motorists don't expect it.

10. Avoid broken pavement, loose gravel and leaves - which can cause you to lose control of your bike.

Tewksbury Library Notes

Spooky October events in the Children's Room

Fall is finally upon us and we've got a month full of fun planned at the library. Many of our programs are run on a drop in basis, but please remember to register for any events that indicate they require it due to limited space. Registration begins on the date indicated and you may register online by clicking on the link to our Calendar of Events at tewksburypl.org or by calling the Children's desk at 978-640-4496.

Singer and storyteller Steve Blunt joins us with a Spooktacular Songs Halloween Show of silly, spooky musical fun on Saturday, October 29 at 2:00 p.m. If you're lucky, Miss Noelle may even get up and join Steve for a song (she contributed vocals to his new CD, There's a Vampire at my Door). This is a show for the whole family! A ticket is required for admittance to this event—pick up your FREE tickets at the Children's desk beginning on October 17. Every "body" coming into the room needs a ticket. Dress up in costume for extra spooky fun!

Kids of all ages are invited to Trick or Treat at the Library again this year on Monday, October 31st between 10:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. Drop by in costume and pick up treats at all three desks. We look forward to seeing this year's costumes and you can check out what the staff is dressed up as this year. What will Miss Noelle and Miss Amy be wearing? Come over and see!

Enter a pumpkin this year in our 2nd Annual Pumpkin Decorating Contest. Bring in a decorated pumpkin any time from Monday, October 17 to Wednesday, October 19. We'll put your pumpkin on display both in the library and online on our blog, librarypumpkincontest.blogspot.com. From Thursday, October 20 through Tuesday, October 25, vote for your favorite three pumpkins online or in person. Winners will be announced on Wednesday, October 26 and prizes will be given to all entries. Children from ages 3 to 12 are invited to enter their pumpkins. We'll divide up the entries by age group. Pumpkins may NOT be carved, but they can be otherwise decorated however you like.

No time or materials to decorate your pumpkin at home? Then come to the library with a pumpkin on Monday, October 17 for our Pumpkin Decorating Day Craft for ages 3 to 12 between 3:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. We'll have all the materials; you just need to bring your own pumpkin. After you decorate, you can enter your pumpkin in our Pumpkin Decorating Contest if you like! No registration required for the craft.

Want to listen to some slightly spooky Halloween stories? Then come on in for Halloween Story Time for ages 3 to 6 on Tuesday, October 25 at 11:00 a.m. or for our Costume-a-rama Story

Time on Wednesday, October 26 at 7:00 p.m. Costumes are encouraged, but not required. No registration necessary.

Come to our Drop in Preschool Craft where we'll create a Halloween Picture Frame on Wednesday, October 26 for ages 3 to 6 from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. Toddlers ages 18 months up to age 3 can drop in to our Toddler Craft of a Halloween Treat Bag on Friday, October 28 from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. No registration is required for either craft; just come in any time during the hour to make one.

Enjoy some gently spooky movie magic on Saturday, October 22 at 10:30 a.m. as all ages are invited to enter their watch Little Vampire during our Morning Movie. Bring a blanket and pillow and any snacks you like and stretch out on our Meeting Room floor for a fun morning of film and friends.

Mother Goose Rhyme Time is a drop in program for children ages 0 to 3 on Wednesday, October 12 at 10:30 a.m. Books, songs, movement, music, instruments, puppets and more are all used to engage the youngest of children and build early learning skills, based on the award-winning Mother Goose on the Loose program. No registration is necessary, just come on down and have some fun!

Our Tiny Tykes Story Time for ages 0 to 18 months continues on Mondays at 10:30 a.m. on October 3, 17, 24 and 31. No registration is required just drop on in to expose your babies to stories, rhymes, music and gentle movement, all proven to help build your child's developmental skills! Older siblings are always welcome.

Wiggle Time for 2 year olds is our story time for toddlers. Ages 18 to 23 months are also welcome to sign up for this 30 minute program of books, songs, dancing, activities, fingerplays and more which helps with the development of socialization and early literacy with your child. Wiggle Time is on Thursdays at 10:30am on October 6, 13, 20 and 27. Registration is required for Wiggle Time as it is limited to 15 children and begins on September 27. You may register for any three dates during the month by calling the Children's desk at 978-640-4496 or by signing up through our Calendar of Events on our website at tewksburypl.org. Older or younger siblings are always welcome!

Preschool Story Time for ages 3 to 5 is regularly on Tuesdays at 11:00 a.m. on October 11, 18, and 25. We'll be featuring Halloween stories on the 25. No registration is required and older or younger siblings are always welcome. Come have fun while building early literacy skills with stories and songs.

Dads and Donuts Story Time is on Saturday, October 15 at 10:30 a.m. for children ages 3 to 6. Preschoolers are encouraged to bring along their favorite guy, be he father, brother, cousin, grandfather, uncle or friend and enjoy stories, songs and dancing with us. Directly after the program we will serve coffee and snacks, funded by our Friends of the Library. Mothers are always welcome, as are older or younger siblings. No registration required.

Come on down for a Drop in Preschool Craft on Friday, October 7 from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. No registration required, kids ages 3 to 6 can just drop in any time during the hour. Preschoolers can also join us for an Evening Story and Craft time on Wednesday, October 19 at 6:30 p.m. Children ages 3 to 6 will listen to stories and then make a craft based on the theme. No registration required, just come on down! Stories start promptly at 6:30pm, don't be late!

At Art Adventures, kids ages 5 to 12 will look at how the art is done in a certain book. Is it collage? Does it use shapes? Once we've talked about the illustrations, we'll get to make our own art based on the work in the book. A great creative workshop for everyone! Come down on Wednesday, October 5 at 3:45 p.m. to try it out! No registration required.

The Read to Me Book & Craft Club is for kids in Kindergarten through 3rd grade. We all read the same book, and then we meet to snack and talk about it. Afterwards, we make a craft based on the book. This month's meeting is on Wednesday, October 19 at 4:00 p.m. Pick up a copy of the book at the Children's desk. Registration is limited to 15 participants and begins on Tuesday, October 11. Call the Children's desk or sign up online through our calendar.

For more information or questions about any of our programs or events, call us in the Children's Room at 978-640-4496 or check us out on the web at tewksburypl.org.

Tewksbury Library Notes

Best-selling authors to visit

The Tewksbury Public Library begins its year-round, monthly visits from best-selling, award-winning authors with Andre Dubus III, Brunonia Barry, and Katherine Hall Page this fall.

Spend an evening with best-selling author Andre Dubus III on Tuesday, September 27, 6:30pm-8pm. Andre will be discussing his latest work - Townie.

About the Book: After their parents divorced in the 1970s, Andre Dubus III and his three siblings grew up with their exhausted working mother in a depressed Massachusetts mill town saturated with drugs and crime. To protect himself and those he loved from street violence, Andre learned to use his fists so well that he was even scared of himself. He was on a fast track to getting killed-or killing someone else. He signed on as a boxer. Nearby, his father, an eminent author, taught on a college campus and took the kids out on Sundays. The clash of worlds couldn't have been more stark-or more difficult for a son to communicate to a father. Only by becoming a writer himself could Andre save himself. His memoir is a riveting, visceral, profound meditation on physical violence and the failures and triumphs of love.

About the Author: Andre Dubus III is the author of the novels Bluesman, House of Sand and Fog, and The Garden of Last Day. Academy Award-nominated motion picture and published in twenty languages, House of Sand and Fog was a fiction finalist for the National Book Award, the L.A. Times Book Prize, and was an Oprah Book Club Selection and #1 New York Times bestseller.

Spend an evening with best-selling author Brunonia Barry on Tuesday, October 25, 6:30 p.m.-8 p.m.. Brunonia will be discussing her latest work - The Map of True Places.

About the Book: From Brunonia Barry, the best-selling author of The Lace Reader, comes an emotionally compelling novel about finding your true place in the world. A respected Boston psychotherapist, Zee Finch has come a long way from a motherless childhood spent stealing boats. But the actions of a patient throw Zee into emotional chaos and take her back to places she thought she'd left behind. What starts as a brief visit home to Salem begins a larger journey. Suddenly having to care for her ailing father after his longtime companion moves out, Zee must come to terms with a strained and awkward relationship that has always been marked by half-truths and haunted by the untimely death of her mother. Overwhelmed by her new role, Zee must destroy the existing map of her life and chart a new course-one that will guide her not only into her future but into her past as well.

About the Author: Born and raised in Massachusetts, Brunonia Barry studied literature and creative writing at Green Mountain College in Vermont and at the University of New Hampshire and was one of the founding members of the Portland Stage Company. Brunonia's love for writing and storytelling has taken her all across the country, but after nearly a decade in Hollywood, Barry returned to Massachusetts where - along with her husband - she co-founded an innovative company that creates award-winning word, visual and logic puzzles. Happily married, Barry lives with her husband and her only child that just happens to be a 12-year-old Golden Retriever named Byzantium. Barry is the first American Writer to win the Woman's International Fiction Festival's 2009 Baccante Award for her first novel - The Lace Reader, a New York Times Best-Seller. The Map of True Places is her second novel.

Spend an evening with best-selling author Katherine Hall Page on Tuesday, November 15, 6:30 p.m. - 8 p.m.. Katherine will be discussing her latest work - The Body in the Gazebo.

About the Book: In multiple Agatha award-winning author Katherine Hall Page's The Body in the Gazebo, beloved caterer Faith Fairchild once again cooks up her entertaining mix of food, suspense and wit while transporting readers back to 1930s to solve a murder over seventy years in the making.

About the Author: Katherine Hall Page was born and grew up in New Jersey. She received her BA from Wellesley College; a Masters in Secondary Education from Tufts; and a Doctorate in Administration, Public Planning and Social Policy from Harvard. Married for 35 years to Professor Alan Hein, an experimental psychologist at MIT, the couple have a 27 year-old son. It was during her husband's sabbatical year in France after the birth of their son that Katherine wrote her first mystery - The Body in the Belfry, the 1991 Agatha Award winner for Best First Mystery Novel. The fifteenth in the series - The Body in the Snowdrift - won the 2006 Agatha Award for Best Mystery Novel. Katherine was also awarded the 2001 Agatha for Best Short Story and has been nominated for numerous Agatha Awards and Mary Higgins Clark Awards. The nineteenth book in the series - The Body in the Gazebo - was published in April 2011.

Talks are held in the Meeting Room. Doors open at 6:15pm. Talks begin at 6:30pm. Seating is limited. The room is handicap accessible. Light refreshments will be provided. Door prizes will be awarded. Pre-registration is REQUIRED as it aids the presenter and staff with planning. Register by stopping by the Reference Desk; calling 978-640-4490 ext. 207; or by visiting the library's online calendar of events. Talks are FREE thanks to the generosity of the Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library. Talks are best suited for adults and teens. Children under 13 must be accompanied by an adult. The library hopes to hold a book signing and selling following each event.

Sen. Finegold says local unemployment rates improving

District sees decline in unemployment numbers for August

BOSTON - While the national unemployment rate hangs at 9.1 percent, recent numbers for Massachusetts from August are drastically improving from this time last year. The towns of Andover, Dracut and Tewksbury, as well as the City of Lawrence, all experienced lower unemployment rates for August compared to just one month before.

"While the nation is slowly crawling out of the recession, Massachusetts is on the move," said Senator Finegold. "Seeing the unemployment numbers decrease for all four of my communities is very encouraging. We still need to focus on improving rates in urban areas, which has been a challenge. We've been working to create jobs and to get people back to work, and we are seeing some improvements. Things are moving in the right direction, but we still have a lot of work to do."

Lions Club will be at Community Fair

Bring eyeglasses for recycling on September 24

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Lions Club is pleased to announce that they will be holding an eyeglass recycling effort at the Wilmington Memorial Library's Community Fair this coming Saturday, September 24 from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. All types of glasses for both children and adults may be recycled, including very weak or strong prescriptions. Reading glasses and non-prescription sunglasses are also useful. Please feel free to visit the Wilmington Lions Club Table to make your donation. The Lions Club will also display literature concerning their eyesight initiatives as well as applications for membership.

Lions Clubs International is the largest service organization in the world with over 1.3 million members around the world. Since 1917, Lions Clubs International has aided the blind and visually impaired and made a strong commitment to community service and serving youth throughout the world. Pet of the Week

This Charity needs a home

Charity, a little girl with big, pleading, greenish-blue eyes will melt your heart. The LOLCR assistance team got her to their Veterinarian to be health checked, spayed and fully vetted.

Charity is small, mostly white, with dark tiger markings. She has the cutest petite face that gives her the look of a perennial kitten, though she is about two years old. She is very clean and always uses her litter box. Charity has a quiet demeanor, loves to be picked up and look over a shoulder for a "bird's-eye" view of the world. She has not figured out, though, what it means to play. Her ideal home would be with a special family who has time to teach her life can be fun. She needs to feel safe, protected and secure, so she will never have to move around and deal with the elements again. She deserves a place that will never put her out and never give her up. Is that forever place your Home Sweet Home? Call us and/or go to our website for an application and email it in to us. "Charity begins at home" and Charity's life will begin again in the right forever home where lots of love lives.

Matt Pescatore and Andrew Zampitella recently held a lemonade stand to raise money and awareness for Celiac Disease, an autoimmune disorder triggered by consuming a protein called gluten, which is found in wheat, barley and rye. One out of every 133 Americans has celiac disease however 95% of them remain undiagnosed or misdiagnosed. Currently the only cure for celiac disease is a strict life-long gluten free diet, because untreated it can lead to a host of problems including malnourishment, some cancers and thyroid disease, to name just a few.

Andrew and Matt would like to thank the generosity of family, friends and the many people in the community who stopped by to help raise money and awareness. A special thank you goes out to Market Basket in Tewksbury and store manager Dan DeFosses for allowing the lemonade stand to take place on their property and to many of Andrew's hockey friends who stopped by to help. Thanks to everyone involved, the day was a huge success.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

Trip to Big E 10/1; Quilt Show 10/15; Cootie Party 10/17

A note of thanks is extended to the ladies of the Craft Class for providing such a delightful afternoon this past Sunday at High Tea. Richard Marshall began the afternoon with his talents and pleasant piano music. Thanks Richard. Then Richard Clark performed his rendition of "And Now...Mark Twain" which was most entertaining and educational. Mr. Clark's appearance was supported in part by the Tewksbury Cultural Council and the Massachusetts Cultural Council. The afternoon event ended in a wonderful array of sandwiches, sweets and of course...tea. Great job ladies. We also thank those Red Hatters who helped in clean-up after the event.

Senior Center volunteer receptionists are reminded that there will be a reception meeting this Thursday, September 22nd at 10:30 AM. It is hoped that you will be able to make this meeting. Likewise, an Upscale Consignment meeting will be held this Friday, September 23 at 9:00 AM. Hope to see all our sales girls at the meeting.

DJ Jon Mansfield will be at the Senior Center next Monday, September 26th for an afternoon dance.

The MassSpay "Catmobile" will be back in Town on Friday, September 30th. The Catmobile will be stationed in the Senior Center parking lot to conduct a Low-Cost Spay/Neuter Clinic from 8 AM to 5PM. The Spay Package is $100 and the Neuter Package is $75. The package includes: Exam; Flea Treatment; Spay/Neuter; Vaccines & Deworming. For appointments and information call 888-495-SPAY (7729).

A day trip to the Big E Fair is being planned in conjunction with the Haverhill

Seniors. The trip will be held on Saturday, October 1st. The trip cost is $36 and includes motorcoach transportation and admission to the Big E. Travelers will have six hours to take in the sounds and sights of the fair.

In October, Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley will offer a six week seminar on "Powerful Tools for Caregivers" which will be held each Wednesday morning from 10:00 to 12:00 noon beginning on October 12th. If interested in attending this free series, please call the Senior Center at 978-640-4480 and have your name added to the seminar list. This program is open to the public.

Several up-coming events have been planned for October; and, are briefly noted here:

- A Cootie Party on October 17th
- A trip to visit the Lizzie Borden House in Fall River on Wednesday, October 19th;
- A Silver Tones dance on Friday, October 21st;
- A Cribbage Tournament on Saturday, October 22nd;
- A Red Hat Halloween Party on Wednesday, October 26th;
- A Friends Halloween Dance on Friday, October 28th; and,
- A National Take Back Initiative (collection of unused prescription drugs) at the Police Station on Saturday, October 29th from 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM.

More information on the above events will be noted in the up-coming weeks. Also, watch for news on the Senior Center Annual Harvest Fair of November 12th.

Tickets are now on sale for the "Lee Lewis and the Doo Wop Allstars" dance which will be held on Friday, November 4th at 8:00 PM.

Tickets are $15 per person.

Tickets are now being sold for the ACTORS, inc. dinner theater of November 18, 19 and 20. The performance will be "Sandbag...Stage Left". To obtain tickets and make reservations one may call the Box Office at 978-984-3251 or e-mail at: HYPERLINK "mailto:tickets@actorsincorporated.com" tickets@actorsincorporated.com. Be ready for murder, mayhem and laughs in this courtroom "who dun it" where the audience decides the outcome.

SHINE Counselor, Jill, is at the Senior Center on Tuesdays and is seen by appointment only. To arrange an appointment, one may call the Senior Center at 978-640-4480. The SHINE Counselor is available to advise Senior Citizens on medical insurance options.

Have a great week. God Bless America.

OBITUARIES

David A. Earle

Actuary for New York Life, two tour Vietnam Veteran

WILMINGTON - David A. Earle, age 71, of Wilmington, died peacefully at home, surrounded by loved one's, on September 5, 2011.

David was born on August 27, 1940 in Wolfeboro, NH. He was the dear son of the late Charles and Eunice (Starkie) Earle. As a youngster growing up in New Hampshire, David was especially close to his younger brother Ralph - they would often do many things together, special projects, have friendly competitions and sibling rivalries, but never allowed anything to come between them and they had a special bond that lasted throughout their lives.

As a teenager David developed many leadership skills and in High School he excelled at math. It was from listening to a speaker during Math Club that David became aware of the Actuarial profession. At that point he started to head on a path that would lead to his life-long career.

David graduated from Keene High School in Keene, NH and went on to further his education at Northeastern University in Boston. David was quickly accepted to their cooperative program and was a member of the ROTC.

During David's co-op employment time, he worked with New England Life Insurance Company. Following graduation he continued on in the Actuarial Department. Being in ROTC during his time in college, David took a military leave of absence from his civilian employment to fulfill his two year military active duty commitment. After receiving training, he assumed responsibilities supporting the Army Material Command, which was stateside. During his second year, he served as a supply officer in Vietnam. At that time there were on about 50,000 U.S. Troops in Vietnam, but that number continued to grow during his tour of duty. During this time serving the country, David earned the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal.

Upon completion of his active duty commitment, David returned to work at New England Life in the Actuary Department. He started taking a series of 10 Actuarial exams, passing every one on the first try; an amazing feat. At the time he was trying to complete his exams he was also completing his 4-year Army Reserve requirement. Late in 1968, David went to a second tour in Vietnam, this time as a staff supply officer for the 513 Maintenance Battalion. By this time the war was much more intense. David did not talk of Vietnam much, but his accomplishments were many, his decorations and awards included Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, 3 Overseas Service Bars, Vietnam Campaign Ribbon with Device, Vietnam Service Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal and the Bronze Star. David was honorably discharged from the United States Army in July of 1969.

After he returned home, David continued to take the remaining Actuarial tests to advance within New England

Life and became a Member of the Society of Actuaries. David always had a giving nature, not only did he pass his tests, but he assisted others in preparing for the tests, he taught courses, and worked with other insurance companies to help their employees as well. David faithfully worked for New England Life Insurance Company for his entire working career of over 40 years.

David was a person of great faith, he loved God and he loved his country, and he served both of them very well. David was a very active member of the Martin's Pond Union Baptist Church, he served as a member of the Standing Committee, as Church Treasurer, and in many other ways remaining faithful to this local congregation's part of God's Church. It was at church that David met and fell in love with Susan Baker, they married in 2002 and their bond was unwavering in sickness and in health. The love David and Susan shared was evident to everyone around them and they felt blessed to have each other.

David was a private and humble person who did not parade his accomplishments.

One accomplishment that he was proud of was visiting all 50 states and keeping careful records of each visit. Aside from traveling, David also enjoyed taking long walks and he was very devoted to caring for his father following the death of his mom.

David will be fondly remembered as kind and generous; he was soft spoken and always willing to help others. The way David lived his life represented all that is good in the world and he made it a better place for others. David was well loved by his family and friends and he will be greatly missed.

David is survived by his beloved wife Susan (Baker) Earle and his brother Ralph Earle both of Wilmington, as well as many relatives and friends who adored him.

Family and friends gathered for a Service in the Martins Pond Union Baptist Church and David was laid to rest in the family lot at Wildwood Cemetery in Wilmington. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Nichols Funeral Home in Wilmington.

Memorial donations in David's name may be made to the North Reading Food Pantry, P. O. Box 626, North Reading, MA 01864 or to the Martin's Pond Union Baptist Church Memorial Fund, 4 Cogswell Road, North Reading, MA 01864.

Francis J. Fortunato

Prominent Medford attorney; WWII Veteran; very active practice and social life until June 2011

MEDFORD - Prominent Medford attorney, Francis J. Fortunato, entered into eternal rest on Sunday, September 18, 2011, at the age of 99 years. Francis J. Fortunato, Esq. was born on January 21, 1912, in Chelsea, MA, the oldest of 9 children born to Carmine and Linda (Aratto) Fortunato. He is predeceased by his wife, Leonilda (Bosio) who died in 2004, at the age of 92 years.

Francis was the beloved father of Attorney Paul Francis Fortunato and his wife, Terri of Tewksbury, and Mary Dorman and her fiancé, Joseph LeFave, of Medford. He was cherished by his 6 grandchildren: Sheila Dorman, Brian Dorman, Joseph Che Fortunato, Anthony Fortunato, Tara Fortunato, and Peter Francis Fortunato as well by his 8 great-grandchildren.

He is survived by his sister, Marion Visconti, of Medford, and his brothers, George Fortunato of Lexington and William Fortunato of Saugus, and numerous nieces and nephews, including John Flanagan, with whom he shared a special bond. He was predeceased by his siblings: Eleanor Flanagan, Paul Fortunato, Carmine Fortunato, Arthur Fortunato, and John Fortunato, as well as his son-in-law, Roy H. Dorman.

Francis graduated from Medford High School, class of 1930, then attended Suffolk University and Suffolk Law, part-time, while he worked as a roofer, a newspaper deliverer for the Boston Globe, and several other jobs. He was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1939, and opened a law practice in Medford Square. Except for the period of time that he served in the military during WWII, he actively practiced law in Medford Square for 72 years. He worked 5 or 6 days a week until June 29, 2011. Dr. John Gentuso stated that there were 2 things that you could count on in life, "every weekday morning the sun will come up and Francis Fortunato will be in his office at Zero Governors Avenue."

During WWII he served in the army, with the 38th Combat Engineer Regiment. He landed on the beach at Normandy, France on D-Day. He often said "We lost a lot of good people that day." He and his six brothers all saw action during WWII and the corner of Stanley Avenue and College Avenue in Medford is dedicated as "Fortunato Brothers Corner."

Francis was a member of the Medford Housing Authority for over 20 years, serving as the Chairman for 4 of those years. He was instrumental in building the first two elderly housing developments in Medford, as well as in the planning and building of the South Medford and Riverside Avenue housing developments. The City of Medford honored him for his service to the city by naming a street after him, Fortunato Drive, which is located at the Walking Court Housing Development.

Attorney Fortunato was a long-time member and past president of the First Eastern Middlesex Bar Association.

He was, for many years, a certified land examiner for the Massachusetts Land Court. His legal specialties were real estate and probate law. In July 2006 he was featured in a Boston Globe story because, at age 94, he was practicing law full time, 6 days a week, and in February 2007 he was featured on WBZ news and in an article about him on their website. He was, also, contacted by Jay Leno and Jimmy Kimmel about appearing on their television shows, which he declined.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Elks. He was very active and his favorite hobby was bowling. He bowled in the Medford church league until his 99th birthday. Until June 29, 2011, he lived independently, continued to drive and do his own grocery shopping, among other activities. He was, also, a big fan of the Boston Red Sox, never missing a game on either TV or radio. He fondly remembered their World Series victory of 1918 and was happy to finally see them win the series, again, in 2004.

In recent years, his goal was to celebrated his 99th birthday with dinner at the 99 Restaurant with his children, which he did on January 21, 2011.

His funeral will be held from the Beals-Geake-Magliozi Funeral Home, 29 Governors Avenue, Medford on Friday morning, September 23, 2011, at 10 AM, followed by a Mass of Christian Burial, celebrated in St. Joseph Church, 118 High Street, Medford at 11 AM. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend. Visiting hours will be on Thursday, September 22, 2011, from 2 to 5 & 7 to 9 PM. Interment will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford. In lieu of flowers, donations in Francis' memory may be made to the Food Allergy & Anaphylaxis Network (FAAN) 11781 Lee Jackson Hwy., Suite 160, Fairfax, VA 22033, or to the charity of your choice.

He also commended technical schools as a whole.

"The MSBA's [Massachusetts School Building Authority] investment in vocational technical schools is a commitment to strengthen the Massachusetts innovation economy," said Grossman. "By focusing on school facilities that educate and train a skilled workforce, we create new opportunities for countless young people and help them successfully transition into solid, good-paying jobs."

Katherine Craven, the Executive Director of the MSBA, also took part in the ceremony.

"The MSBA has made a $300 million commitment to the renewal and repair of vocational technical schools," she said. "With this new wing, Shawsheen students will receive valuable training to prepare them for highlyskilled jobs."

"The MSBA is proud to be part of this important educational and economic project," she said.

Lyons thought the ceremony went well.

"It's a terrific feeling," he said. He said the building, throughout the process, remained under-budget and opened on schedule.

"We're building a facility that will give young people jobs," he said.

Laughter results in fireworks

Comedy Night featuring Paul D'Angelo and Steve Bjork

TEWKSBURY - Join the Friends of the Tewksbury Patriotic Committee (TPAC) and Atamian Motors for a night of laughter on September 24 to benefit the town's various patriotic endeavors. The comedy show will feature four of the best comedians working today, and is suitable for adults of all ages.

Stand-up comedy can sometimes cross the lines of good taste, and you never know what you're going to get when you walk into a typical comedy club. However, TPAC has worked to ensure that everyone will be comfortable at this particular show, which will feature PG-13 material.

The headlining comic is the one and only Paul D'Angelo, who is currently starring in "The Godfathers of Comedy," currently showing on Showtime.

The Los Angeles Times called D'Angelo "... quite likely the funniest entertainer you've never heard of... yet?"

D'Angelo, whose real name is Paul Murphy, spent over ten years as an assistant district attorney supervising several of Massachusetts' busiest courthouses before becoming a successful criminal-defense trial attorney. The unexpected twist to this story is that, under the pseudonym Paul D'Angelo, he was simultaneously becoming one of the nation's top stand-up comedians.

D'Angelo was a national finalist in the 1989 Johnny Walker Comedy Search; a national finalist in the 1999 San Francisco International Comedy Competition; a national finalist representing Boston in the 2003 'Laughs Across America' comedy search; a national finalist in the 2005 Sierra Mist/Improv 'Next Great Comic' search; and was named 'Boston's Best Comedian' in 1994 and 1995 by Boston Magazine.

D'Angelo has opened for over sixty internationally known acts, including Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin, Tom Jones, Tony Bennett, The Beach Boys, Chicago, The Four Tops, The Temptations, Jerry Lee Lewis, Huey Lewis & The News, The Righteous Brothers, Lyle Lovett, George Carlin, Joan Rivers and Dennis Miller.

He has entertained hundreds of prominent corporate clients all over the country, such as Ford Motor Company, Sony Music Corp., Hewlett-Packard Corp., Nike-Bauer International, Fidelity Investments, Bike Athletic Corp., CVS/Caremark Inc., American & Delta Airlines, NFL Charities and the Burger King Corp.

He is currently co-starring in the stand-up comedy movie, The Godfathers of Comedy, appearing on Showtime.

The evening will be hosted by Steve Bjork, one of the funniest observational humorists in Boston. Bjork has crisscrossed the country performing at premiere venues, such as The Improv in Las Vegas, Mohegan Sun in Connecticut, Foxwoods in Connecticut, Hilarities in Orlando, Florida, Crackers in Indianapolis, Indiana, and many, many more. Last year he appeared in an Olympia Sports commercial, and in August of 2011, filmed a television pilot. He has shared the stage with acts such as Dane Cook, Steven Wright, Dom Irrerra, Dave Chappelle, Gilbert Gottfried, Joe Rogan, and Tommy Chong. He also once opened for the legendary musical group The Platters.

For more information, visit www.stephenbjork.com

The show takes place at the Tewksbury VFW Hall, located on Vernon Street in Tewksbury, on September 24. Tickets are available at the Tewksbury Senior Center, Enterprise Bank on Main Street and IRA Toyota. Or, contact Jerry Selissen at 978-500-1662. Cost is $20.00 and includes "FREE" Pizza compliments of IRA Toyota.

Woburn Street School student Joseph Maselli, age 9, and his third grade teacher Traci Jansen were awarded Certificates of Special Congressional Recognition for their educational efforts regarding the Middlesex Canal from Congresswoman Nikki Tsongas. The certificates were presented during a ceremony on Saturday at the Middlesex Canal Museum in North Billerica. Girls Soccer team wins two more games

Team won three all of last year

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

A year ago the Wilmington High School Girls' Soccer team started off 0-2-3, before winning its next two games and then winning just one game in its final eleven contests. Thus far this year, the Wildcats have started off with a terrific 3-1-2 record, including a 3-1 win over non-league opponent Triton Regional Saturday morning at the Shawsheen Fields and following that up with a 4-0 road win over Watertown on Tuesday afternoon.

The strange this is Wilmington is playing better teams this year, but the difference is the Wildcats are playing much better and much more consistent throughout their six games thus far. Take away the first five minutes of the second half on Saturday, and the Wildcats played terrific, much more composed, great outside passes and runs, and good quality offensive pressure and solid team oriented defensive play.

"It's going to be very important for us to play a full 80 minutes because five minutes of being caught sleeping can be the difference in a game and it almost was (today)," said head coach Sue Hendee after the victory.

Just two days earlier though, Wilmington ended in a scoreless tie against Stoneham, and that game Hendee said the team didn't play with composure.

"We really lost our composure against Stoneham," she said. "Stoneham is a very good team and they are very physical, very fast and they play in your face and they have some skill too, so in that game I thought we kind of folded under pressure. We still played them 0-0, but we tried to come back today and play our possession oriented style."

But through six games this season, the Wildcats have knocked off Reading (4-1), Triton (3-1) and Watertown (4-0), tied Lexington (2-2) and Stoneham (0-0) and lost to Woburn (2-1), meaning it has outscored its opponents 14-5 thus far.

"There was so much unknown coming into the new league and I think the kids have really stepped it up," said Hendee. "It's good and I've been pleasantly surprised."

The last two seasons Wilmington has struggled to score, and through six games the team has 14 goals, coming from eight different players. On Saturday, Alexa Brown gave the Wildcats a 1-0 lead which remained through the first half, and then after Triton tied it up in the second minute of the second half, the Wildcats scored two in a matter of three minutes as Alex Bischoff and Rachel Mara were set up by Adrianna Kippenberger and Rachel Grabar, respectively. Bischoff redirected a long pass from Kippenberger into the left hand corner, and Mara lofted a high kick over the goalie's head into the far corner for the much needed insurance goal.

On Tuesday, Lauren Amazeen, Grabar, Brown and Michaela D'Ambrosio scored single goals.

Through the six games, Grabar leads the team with four goals and one assist, followed by Jackie Kennedy with a goal and two assists, while Holly Niemiec and Brown with two goals each, Mara and Bischoff with 1 goal, 1 assist each, Kippenberger with two assists and Amazeen and D'Ambrosio with one goal each.

On the flip side of that, the team's defense has played very well - Kaitlyn Curley, Kippenberger and Lauren McKenna are just several of the names who have played outstanding thus far.

"The (defenders) have really been pretty solid," said Hendee. "The good thing about our record is that two of our key defenders have really not played much at all. Taylor (Shelton) and Paige (Bennett) have started to come back, but in the meantime the kids who have come in have really stepped up."

On Tuesday, Sarah Luz and Kim Woods split the duties in net, both playing a half and combining for the shut out.

Wilmington will host two games this week against ML Small School teams as Melrose will visit the Shawsheen Field on Friday afternoon, and then Wakefield will come to the high school Monday night for a 6:00 pm start.

BOYS SOCCER

It was a very up and down week for the Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team. The Wildcats ended in a scoreless tie with Stoneham on Thursday, before falling 3-1 to Woburn at home Saturday morning. And then Tuesday night at the high school, the Wildcats played a very subpar game all-around, losing to Watertown, 3-2. The Wildcats are now 1-3-1 overall.

"We have plenty to work on," said head coach Steve Scanlon after the loss to Watertown. "The tell tale sign of a young team is inconsistent effort and inconsistent execution. Saturday we played a good game against a good team, and tonight we come out here and you would think the kids would be ready to go but they are out here sleepwalking through the first half of the game. We had dozens of chances to score. We outshot them 11-4 - they had four shots and three of them went in and they were all preventable goals. So we have plenty to work on and I tell you this is very disappointing. No one can step up and make plays. It's just inconsistent effort. At times we play well, and how many chances to score goals are we going to get? We're just not making the most of our opportunities. And we're just not here today, not here when the game opens."

Wilmington took a 1-0 lead just a few minutes into the game as Kory (sorry not Cory) McGilvary tossed in a long throw from the sidelines and Jamie Mara got a head on and placed it to the back of the net for the quick tally. Several minutes later Watertown tied the game up as Leslie Cadagan walked right through the Wildcat defense and tapped one home and the 1-1 tie stood at the break. Watertown scored the game's next two goals, both on defensive breakdowns, before Phil Lentini headed in another throw-in by McGilvary in the final two minutes to cut the deficit to 3-2.

Lentini scored the lone goal in the team's 3-1 loss to Woburn which came two days after ending in a scoreless tie against a very good Stoneham team.

"Against Woburn we played good," said Scanlon. "It was one of those dominating first halves. We missed three open nets in the first half. We did make it a 2-1 game and we were pushing forward late in the game and they got one with a minute left to make it 3-1, but we missed two of our best opportunities in the first minute of the game."

"Stoneham we played to a scoreless tie and we hung on for dear life. It was a good tie - we got lucky. They are a very good team and they are very physical. Our defense played really good in that game and all we gave up was stuff off of their throws - outside stuff we didn't give up too much and that was a stolen point - and that's why this game (Tuesday against Watertown) was so big because of the small school games are all huge."

In the tie with Stoneham, sophomore goalie Luke Foley made all eight saves to record the shut out, while defenders McGilvary, Connor Townsend, Jared Walsh and Tom Broman all played well.

Wilmington is on the road for its next two games with Melrose Friday night and Wakefield Monday night.

CROSS COUNTRY

Led by a first place finish by Sydney Russo, the Wilmington High School Girls Cross Country team won its first ever Middlesex League Meet by edging out Woburn, 21-34, last Thursday afternoon at Wilmington High School. Russo took the race coming

Old Friend Spencer kicks off collegiate career

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Lauren Spencer kicked off her collegiate soccer career in style as the Suffolk University freshman scored three goals in a 13-0 thrashing against Daniel Webster College last Wednesday. Spencer, a midfielder from Tewksbury who is majoring in journalism at Suffolk, scored all three of her goals in the second half.

Her name might sound familiar to Town Crier readers, including those who didn't follow her exploits at Tewksbury High School. Spencer contributed to this newspaper for three years. Suffolk boasts a record of 2-3 and Spencer has seen action four of those games. They will travel up to Maine to take on Saint Joseph's on Wednesday.

Another name that will certainly sound familiar to Town Crier readers is that of Vinny Papageorgiou. The standout goalkeeper from Wilmington has been manning the net at Franklin Pierce for the last three years, and the senior is showing no signs of letting up.

Papageorgiou made seven saves on Saturday to help lead the #9 Ravens to a 2-1 victory over #4 Southern New Hampshire University. The Ravens improved to 5-0 overall and 2-0 in the Northeast-10 with the win. Papageorgiou has been outstanding this year for the

VINNY PAPAGEORGIOU

Ravens. He has only given up five goals in five games this year while making 20 saves. One of those games was a shutout.

His list of accomplishments last year was long and distinguished. He was a Daktronics Third-Team All-American while also making the Daktronics All-East Region First-Team, All-NE-10 Second-Team and the NE-10 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll.

Wilmington running back Ernie Mello was named the Liberty League's Co-Offensive Performer of the Week for his play in WPI's 31-3 win over Becker on Saturday.

The senior scored on a 5-yard run in the first quarter, which turned out to be the game-winning touchdown. He scored on a 1-yard run in the second quarter and capped off his strong game with another 1-yard touchdown in the third.

Mello has rushed for 283 yards in his team's first three games this season. He is also the primary kick return man for the Engineers, and has 11 returns for 275 yards, including one for 54 yards. The Engineers boast a record of 1-2 and will play host to Rensselaer this Saturday.

Two brothers from Wilmington will see each other on the soccer pitch next month, but they won't be attending the game as fans, or even teammates. They'll be opponents.

Justin Colella, a senior midfielder at Saint Anselm, has started in six of his team's seven games so far this season. He led the team in goals with four and points with eight last year.

His brother Adam Colella is a freshman goalkeeper at Stonehill College and has started two of his team's five games this year. He only gave up one goal in those two games and has six saves. He was named the Northeast-10 Conference (NE-10) Rookie of the Week on Monday.

The two St. John's Prep graduates are scheduled to face off in late October at Stonehill.

Three local football players are competing on the Merrimack College football team, and through three games the Warriors certainly are used to being in high-scoring games.

Anthony Arcari, a freshman running back from Tewksbury, has seen action in two games, rushing seven times for 28 yards. Shane Simbeck, a junior line-backer from Wilmington, and Brian Hurley, a freshman tight end also from Wilmington, are on the roster as well.

The Warriors defeated WPI 60-3 in their season opener. The followed that up with a 49-19 loss to Edinboro, but were able to bounce back to defeat Pace 63-7 on Saturday, which set a school record for points scored. The local trio will hope the Warriors stay hot after a bye week as they will take on Saint Anselm.

Leah Potcner is another Wilmington goalkeeper who has kicked off her collegiate season on the right foot. The senior, who is also a team captain, has started all seven of her team's games so far this season.

The netminder has a record of 3-3-1 in those seven games, including two shutout victories, one of which came last Friday against Gordon College. She has 33 saves in those games, good enough for a .805 save percentage.

Potcner and the Vikings are next in action this Saturday against the Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts.

Staying at Salem State, Tewksbury's Lauren Dicredico has started all five games for the field hockey team this season. The sophomore defender has one assist for the Vikings, who currently have a record of 2-3.

The team is actually coached by another Tewksbury native, Jessica Mirisola. This is Mirisola's first year as coach. She had served as the head junior varsity field hockey coach and assistant varsity coach at Tewksbury High School for the last three years. She was a standout player for four years at Keene State from 2003-2006.

Clark senior goalkeeper Kate McGrath of Wilmington has been named NEWMAC (New England Women's and Men's Athletic Conference) field hockey defensive player of the week. McGrath was huge for the Cougars in a 2-0 week that saw them extend their winning streak to five games and open up conference play with a victory.

Clark defeated Nichols, 4-1, as McGrath made five saves in the win. Then, playing against an MIT team that entered the contest averaging more than seven goals a game, she was outstanding, turning back a career-best 15 shots as the Cougars won, 4-1.

The win for McGrath over the Engineers had to be extra special after last year when she gave up six goals on nine shots to MIT in an 8-2 loss. So far this season, McGrath is 5-1 overall and ranks first in the NEWMAC in save percentage (.864), second in goals against average (0.96) and third in saves (38). McGrath also excels off the field, having been named 2010 Clark University Scholar Athlete with a 3.9 average, and to the 2010 NCAA Division III National Academic Squad.

Wilmington's Kenny Vassallo was named to the Northeast-10 Conference Weekly Honor Roll for the week. Vassallo went 2-0 on Saturday during the Purple Knights' season-opening 6-3 victory against Endicott College. In No. 2 doubles, Vassallo paired with a teammate for an 8-2 win before taking an 8-5 pro set at number five singles.

Vassallo has seen his role with Saint Michael's broaden each of his three seasons. After picking up five wins at No. 6 singles as a freshman but appearing in only one doubles match, he earned three victories at No. 3 singles last season while picking up a pair of wins at third doubles.

The Purple Knights begin their Northeast-10 Conference slate on Sunday against visiting Pace University at 2 p.m.

Steve Stewart was quite busy on Saturday as the Wilmington High graduate played two roles for the Bentley University football team in its 31-12 victory over Stonehill.

Stewart, a junior cornerback, had six tackles, including three of the solo variety, in the Falcons' conference win. He also returned one kick for 25 yards.

Stewart is currently third on the team in tackles through three games with 18, 10 of them solo. Bentley (2-1) plays host to Saint Anselm this Saturday.

Also in Bentley athletics, Nikki Sirignano, a freshman from Wilmington, finished in 32nd place in the JV race for the women's cross-country team in the UMass-Dartmouth Shriners Invitational on Saturday. Her time of 21:24 was good enough for seventh on her team.

Tewksbury's Jane Hatzikonstantis earned her third shutout of the year for the UMass Lowell women's soccer team in a 0-0 draw against Stonehill on Wednesday. The Central Catholic graduate, a freshman on the team, ran her shutout streak to 290 minutes with the clean sheet. She has not given up a goal all season and made two saves in the game.

Hatzikonstantis splits time in the net with a sophomore, but if she keeps up her outstanding play, she should see more time for the River Hawks, who hold a record of 2-2-2. UML is next in action Wednesday against American International College.

Staying at UMass Lowell, two local runners competed for the women's cross-country team in the UMass-Dartmouth Shriners Invitational on Saturday. Wilmington's Colleen Kennedy, a junior, finished in 33rd place overall with a time of 19:36, good enough for second on her team. Tewksbury's Nicole Skotz, also a junior, placed 108th with a time of 20:45 and was the second River Hawk to cross the line.

Joel Altavesta, a junior fullback from Tewksbury, had 21 rushing yards for the Springfield College football team in its 63-19 thrashing of Husson University on Saturday.

Altavesta started the game for the Pride and had five rushing attempts in the game. He has carried the ball 15 times for 67 games in his team's two games this year. The Pride are currently perfect at 2-0 and will travel to New York to take on Alfred State College on Saturday.

Finally several locals took part in the PumpkinMan Triathlon held in South Berwick, Maine back on September 11th. Each participant had to complete a third of a mile swim, a 14-mile bike ride and a three mile run. Tewksbury resident Peter Fortunato finished 61st overall finishing at 37:03.923 in the swim, 3:32.892 on the run and 2:47.00.510 on the bike. Fortunato, a former TMHS and UMass Amherst stand-out runner, is currently the assistant cross country coach at TMHS. He replaced Bob Doolan, a teacher at the high school, who also competed at the same race. Doolan came in 269th overall with respective times of 43:56.864, 5:48.229 and 2:59.48. Also competing were Brian and Theresa Days of Wilmington, with Brian coming in 251st and 372nd, respectively.

across at 21:15, and she was followed by teammates Keara MacCorkle (3rd, 21:46), Kate Richardson (5th, 22:06), Michelle Barnes (6th, 22:38) and Nicole Romanzo (9th, 23:11) as the Wildcats finished 1-3-5-6-9, compared to Woburn's 2-4-7-8-10 which was the difference in the seven point victory.

"The girls ran well," said head coach Tom Bradley. "Sydney led start to finish and ran quite well. Kate Richardson and Keara MacCorkle ran personal bests and showed how much they have improved from last season. Michelle Barnes and Nicole Romanzo ran quite well also and two new runners, Maeve Sullivan and Annie Romanzo ran 23:32 and 23:36 in their first meet."

On the boys' side, Wilmington had the top two finishers in Steve Halas (17:21) and Erik Alatalo (17:22) but Woburn had seven of the next eight runners which was the difference in the Tanners coming away with the 25-31 win.

"Steve and Erik were terrific running first and second," said Bradley. "Steve had a personal best and Erik was a second behind in his first cross country meet. Dave Swider is also new to cross country and ran a very good race."

Swider finished 8th overall with a time of 19:02, and he was followed by Andrew Sears and Ryan Kennedy who both ran their best, 19:17 and 19:46, as well as Jake Russo

Chris Monteforte who finished sixth and seventh for Wilmington.

On Tuesday, both Wilmington teams were defeated by Lexington. The Girls team was defeated 20-41, as Russo finished third overall and first for the Wildcats with a time of 20:20. She was followed by Callie O'Connell (5th, 20:31), Keara MacCorkle (11th, 21:22), Kate Richardson (12th, 21:26) and Nicole Romanzo (22:38).

"The course was tough and the girls put in a very good effort," said Bradley. "Lexington is very strong for both Boys and Girls."

The Wilmington Boys team lost 21-38 to drop to 0-2 on the season. Erik Alatalo finished second overall at 16:35, an excellent time for the 2.9 mile course, which is extremely hilly. Steve Halas followed at 17:07, with Dave Swider (17:17), Chris Monteforte (19:12) and Justin LaRosa (19:29) finishing thereafter.

"Dave Swider had a strong finish to hold off a Lexington runner, and I thought both Chris and Justin really did well for this course."

Both the Girls and the Boys teams will return home on Tuesday for a ML Meet against Stoneham.

FIELD HOCKEY

After defeating Reading, 4-1, to improve to 4-0 on the season, the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team lost for the first time this season, dropping a 2-1 decision to Stoneham.

"Losing to Stoneham is very disappointing," said head coach Jodi Campbell. "We should have had this one with no problem. The (girls) heads just weren't into it, and it is certainly a wake up call. They will need to come out strong against Watertown, otherwise, we will be considering this a tough week."

Amanda Richards scored the lone goal against Stoneham. In the win over Reading, the Wildcats took a 2-0 lead in the first half as Shelley Sullivan scored at the 9:30 mark with a set up by Emily Colosimo. Then two minutes later, Richards scored an unassisted goal. Reading did cut the lead in half before the first half break as Ashley Tango scored a unassisted goal at the 13:20 mark.

In the second half, Wilmington added two more goals as Cristina Wilson and Richards scored 12 minutes apart. Jacqui Duffy assisted on Richards' second goal of the game.

Wildcat netminder LisaMarie DiOrio made two saves to record the win.

"Beating Reading was a sweet victory seeing they have definitely dominated in the past few years within the Middlesex League," said Campbell.

Wilmington will be extremely busy over an eight day period. The Wildcats faced nine-time state champion Watertown on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime. On Thursday, Melrose comes to town, before going to Lowell Monday night for a non-league game. Then next Wednesday, Wilmington will host Wakefield.

VOLLEYBALL

The WHS Volleyball team picked up its second win of the season on Monday, sweeping Watertown in three straight sets by scores of 25-13, 25-8 and 25-17. Robin Hollenbeck had a huge game for the Wildcats with ten aces and eight digs, and also scored 13 service points in a row at one point. Emma Saporito had six aces and four digs, while, Ashley White chipped in with four kills.

"We played a much more controlled game this time around," said coach Meghan Sheehy. "Our servers were on and scored multiple points for our team. Robin scored 13 in a row and Emma scored 16 in a row. This game showed us that fundamentals are going to help us win games. We have to make sure to concentrate on the little things if we want to get the win."

Wilmington is now 2-5 on the season and will host Belmont on Friday, before traveling to Burlington on Tuesday.

D1 Pop Warner team improves to 2-0

The Wilmington Pop Warner D1 team moved to 2-0 on Sunday by blowing past Reading D1 26-0. The Wildcats were up 20-0 at halftime and cruised to victory in the second half.

The Wildcat offensive line was stellar all day allowing Wilmington running backs to rush 29 times for 214 yards and four touchdowns. Pat McAndrew, David Fraser, Mark Companschi, Kyle Kenyon, Joey Dumoulin, Dominic Ardizonni, Tommy Strow, Bailey Smith and Ryan Brewer dominated the Reading linemen and linebackers for the entire game.

The Wildcats came out of the gate strong with a four play drive capped by John Kenny's 42 yard touchdown run. It was the first of three rushing touchdowns on the day for Kenney as he ran the ball 10 times for 151 yards to go along with three scores. After a quick defensive stop the Wildcats scored again on a quick drive of five plays with fullback Kyle Penny leading the way for John Kenny's second touchdown run, this one from eight yards out. For the game, the tandem of Kenny and Penny ran the ball 16 times for a whopping 178 yards combined. The Wildcats scored on their third possession, another quick four play drive capped off by Kenny's third touchdown of the half from 28 yards out.

For the second straight week, the Wildcats held their opponents scoreless, recoding their second shutout of the season. The defense, led by Justin Fraser and Frankie Irizarry at defensive end, Nick Kullman, Sam Vince, Brett Chisholm, Smith and Kenyon at defensive tackle, Peter Marino, Andrew Sullivan, Companschi and Dumoulin at linebacker dominated the Reading offensive line all game. Two of the biggest defensive contributors; Michael Ducharme and Michael Daley were stellar at corner for the Wildcats recording six tackles between them and keeping the Reading offense from being able to run outside.

In the second half, the Wildcat offense spread the ball around with Daley rushing three times for nine yards, Ducharme rushing twice for five yards and the running back trio of Smith Fraser and Marino carried five times for 21 yards to put the game away. In addition to quarterbacking the team, Andrew Sullivan also recorded the first interception for the Wildcat defense this season and then scoring on a quarterback sneak to put the Wildcats on top 26-0.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Rams Girls Soccer team takes top pair

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech Girls Soccer team got their season off to a bit of a late start thanks to weather cancellations, but once it finally got under way the Lady Rams picked up right where they left off last season when they were the undefeated champions of the Commonwealth Athletic Conference.

Shawsheen went 3-0 in their first three games of the season last week, outscoring their opponents by a combined score of 19-2 and they look like they are primed for another dominant season.

In their season opener last Wednesday Shawsheen downed Greater Lowell by a score of 8-1 and followed that up last Friday with a 6-0 rout of North Shore. The Lady Rams wrapped up their dominant opening week with a 5-0 road victory over non-league rival Malden.

"We're off to a great start and we are playing very well," Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud said. "The challenge for us now is going to be for us to keep this going all season long."

Shawsheen has been led so far this season by a very balanced scoring attack including in their season opener over Greater Lowell. Seven different goal scorers led the way for Shawsheen including Tewksbury's Erin Plunkett who notched a pair of tallies.

Scoring single goals for the Lady Rams were juniors Kristen Carroll and Arianna Medeiros of Tewksbury, Emily and Marissa Irwin of Tewksbury, sophomore Rachel McLaren of Wilmington and senior Amanda Vance.

Senior Marissa Irwin added a pair of assists to go along with her goal while senior goalie Jen Curtis made four saves to come away with the win.

"I really thought it would be a tighter game with Greater Lowell, but we have seen that before where they start off slow but we face them at the end of the year and they are much better," Michaud said. "We know it will be much tougher the next time we face them."

The scoring was not quite as spread out in the North Shore game as Medeiros led the way with an outstanding performance, tallying three goals and three assists in the 6-1 win.

Michaud has been very impressed with Medeiros' transition from midfielder last season to forward this year.

"A lot of times last year I would move her up to forward to help us spark our offense, so this year I thought we should just move her up there all the time," Michaud said. "She is doing a great job with it and she loves laying there. She loves scoring goals and she is very good at it."

Once again Michaud was a little surprised at the lopsided nature of his team's win over what he thought would be a much stiffer test for his team.

"North Shore has really improved every time we played them, but again we felt like we caught them early in the year," Michaud said. "The graduated nine seniors last season so they have a really young team that will get better as the year goes on."

Curtis had ten saves in the win.

In the win over Malden, the Lady Rams got goals from some of their younger players when freshman Emily Irwin and sophomores Brianna Anderson and Rachel McLaren all found the back of the net.

Rachel also assisted on a goal by her sister Rebecca while Kristen Carroll added the other Shawsheen goal.

Boys Soccer

The results have not been as good for the Shawsheen boys soccer team, although they have been playing very well in many of their early season games. The problem, so far for the Rams has been a lack of offense, and that inability to put the ball in the net has led them to a 2-2 start on the season.

Their inability to score has not been for a lack of chances and their most recent loss to CAC rival Northeast Metro Tech was a perfect example of their frustrations as the Rams had several chances to get the equalizer and more, but were unable to get the ball past the Northeast goalie.

In this game the Rams were not only victimized by an inability to score, but also by some very tough luck. Locked in a scoreless tie with just over three minutes left in the game, a pair of Northeast players collided with each other on the Shawsheen side of the field, causing a stoppage of play due to a rule requiring such a stoppage to help prevent concussions.

Once play resumed with a drop ball, it took only two touches for Northeast to score the game's only goal and break the hearts of the Rams.

"It was an ugly way to lose a game," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "We certainly deserved a better fate than that, because in my opinion we played as well if not better than they did. But there are no excuses."

In four games the Rams have allowed only two goals, but with a pair of 1-0 losses in their first two games their record stands at only 2-2. The lack of scoring is of course a concern for the Rams and Barriss.

"That's a big concern. We had 13 shots against Greater Lowell and ten against Northeast, but we have not been able to score," Barriss said. "I felt like there were six or seven shots against Northeast that I thought were going in, but we are just not finishing and getting the ball in the net."

"We are doing things to get there, but we are just not having any luck getting it in. I feel like if we gain some more confidence we will be able to start scoring."

While the Rams have not been able to score, they have been getting outstanding efforts on defense, with defenders Mike DiGiorgio and Cam Ahearn of Tewksbury along with TJ Barriss and Jake Snook proving to be a formidable group for any opponent to penetrate.

"They have certainly held up their end of the bargain," Barriss said. "They have played very well as I expected they would going into the season."

Not to be forgotten have been the efforts of sophomore goalie Andy Sutton of Wilmington. Thrust into the starting goalie position with no previous experience Sutton has performed admirably for the Rams.

"Andy has stepped up and played very well," Barriss said. "He has not really given up any bad goals and he has been great back there along with the four defenders."

Barriss has also been very pleased with the play of midfielders, Dan Suarez and Niko Riparo so far this season.

"Our midfielders have done very well so far," Barriss said. "With the exception of about 20 minutes against Greater Lowell they have been outstanding. It has not been for a lack of effort by anybody that we have not been winning."

All is certainly not lost for the Rams as they will have a shot at redemption this week starting Wednesday on the road at Lynn Tech followed by a home game against perennial CAC champ Chelsea.

Barriss knows that the pressure is on his team to get back in the win column after two straight losses.

"I had thought at the beginning of the year that if we got through these first six games at 4-2 I would be very happy so we would have been in a great shape if we were able to get a win last week," Barriss said. "So we really need to get at least one win in these next two games. We will find out what we are made of this week. We will find out if we are going to be in the hunt for the league or just trying to get to .500."

Volleyball

team has been on quite a roll as of late, winning three matches this past week all by scores of 3-0 with each game being dominated by the Lady Rams.

The three victories improved the Lady Rams record in the season to 6-1 overall and 5-1 in the CAC.

Shawsheen coach Chet Flynn has seen his team roll over several opponents that on paper looked as if they would provide a stiff challenge for the Lady Rams.

"It's been a combination of things," Flynn said. "The teams we are playing are stronger than we are making them look, but we are playing well. We are not giving away points, we are not hitting a lot of balls out and we are playing very good defense."

Shawsheen started their week last Thursday with a 3-0 win over CAC rival Chelsea, winning by scores of 25-20, 25-22, and 25-19.

The Lady Rams were led by strong efforts by Danielle Cacciola who had 17 service points including four aces and three digs as well as Taylor Simas who added nine service points and four digs.

Shawsheen got multiple great efforts in their home win over Nashoba Tech on Monday as well, sweeping the three games by scores of 25-11, 25-10 and 25-9.

Senior outside hitter Nicole Kakleas had nine service points and three kills while junior setter Simas added 13 assists. Shawsheen was also led by junior middle hitter Kelsey Davey who had four kills and two blocks.

Kakleas has been consistently outstanding all season long and the Nashoba match was no exception.

"Nicole is doing very well," Flynn said. "She is one of only two seniors we have and even though she has been a little inconsistent at times she really stepped up against Nashoba and she got better as the game went on."

Simas is another member of the Lady Rams who has consistently given her team a strong effort.

"She played all of last year for us as a sophomore so she has some good experience for a junior," Flynn said. "She also does a lot of things that don't show up in the box score as well, like making sprawling saves and things like that."

"She is setting up our offense and making it run much easier because gives us the ball in good position."

Shawsheen closed their impressive week on Tuesday with another 3-0 win at home, this time over Mystic Valley by scores of 25-12, 25-14, and 25-14.

In the Mystic win, sophomore Chrissy Duggan was exceptional with 18 service points, while Kakleas continued her impressive week with nine service points of her own. Stephanie Champoux added five kills to add to the Lady Rams cause.

"Chrissy is actually our third setter, but she was filling in and she did a great job," Flynn said. "She has been playing sparingly, but she started in this one and did a wonderful job serving and running our offense."

So many different Lady Rams are contributing to their success that it is hard to say who has been the biggest star. Similarly, it is often difficult for Flynn to decide who should be receiving the most playing time.

"We have so much depth and so many interchangeable parts with so many kids that it makes it hard to decide," Flynn said. "I have never been in a position where we had so much depth, so it is a good problem to have."

Golf

It is a measure of the incredible success in recent years of the Shawsheen golf team that they made the biggest news of the week simply by losing a match. On Monday afternoon the Rams suffered a 165-167 loss to Colonial Athletic League rival Monty Tech to hand them their first loss of the season, dropping their overall record to 8-1, while they fell to 7-1 in the CAL.

But more amazingly it was also their first league loss in the past seven seasons, covering both the CAC as well as the CAL. The Rams last league loss came in the second match of the 2004 season to Tyngsboro.

"It was a great run," said Shawsheen coach Tom Struthers who has overseen the entire league winning streak. "We knew it had to end some time and this was a tough way to lose."

The Rams were done in by the final group of players which saw a Monty Tech sophomore fire an even par 35 to seal the two stroke win for his team. As much as he hated to see his team finally lose, even Struthers could appreciate what the win must have meant for Monty Tech.

"That sophomore had a birdie, par, par finish so he really came through and it was nice to see him win it for his team," Struthers said. "Their number one player also played very well. Monty Tech has been one of those teams that has had the talent to win in the past, but it just has not shown, and on this day it showed."

The Rams, of course also did not have their best day on the golf course, as their score of 167 was about eleven strokes higher than their average and 21 strokes higher than the score they posted in a win over Minuteman last week.

Shawsheen was without number one player Stephen Murphy due to injury and several of their other top players did not shoot their best scores as well. The combination all added up to the very rare league loss.

"It was a case where we had a bit of an off day and they had a very good day," Struthers said. "We would have loved to have had Murphy, but we can't make any excuses."

In their other matches this past week the Rams had much more typical results, posting wins over Austin Prep (159-167) last Tuesday, Minuteman (146-176) last Wednesday and Bay Path (158-189) last Thursday.

In each of the matches the Rams had a different overall medalist with Murphy leading the way against Austin Prep with an even par 35 followed by senior Chris Clayton with a 39, sophomore Remy Fletcher with a 41 and senior Dave Johnson with a 44.

Against Minuteman it was Clayton who led an overall outstanding performance by the entire team with an even par 35 at the Patriot GC in Bedford while senior Spencer Sawicki and junior Chris Newcomb each fired a 36. Murphy shot a 39 on the day while Johnson continued his fine play with a 40.

In the Bay Path win, one again at the Patriot GC it was Newcomb who led the way with a 38 while Johnson and Clayton each shot a 39 while Fletcher carded a 42.

"We've been playing very well and we are getting great efforts from a lot of kids," Struthers said. "Of course that is great to see because you don't want to have to rely on just one or two kids."

As great as they have been playing the Rams must now adjust to deal with something that none of these players have ever had to deal with, namely bouncing back from a league loss.

Cross Country

Both the Boys and Girls Cross Country teams at Shawsheen are off to fast starts this season with each posting a 2-0 record in the early going. Both teams have defeated Mystic Valley and Minuteman, with the Mystic win coming last Wednesday on the road and the Minuteman win coming at home on Monday.

The boys started their season by downing Mystic 20-38 and followed it up with a 17-46 win over Minuteman.

In the Mystic meet the Rams were not able to earn the top spot as Zach Kelso of Mystic Valley took the win in a time of 18:55 over the three mile course, but the Rams took the next five spots and eight of the next nine to pile up enough points to earn the win.

Ryan Tirabassi was the top Rams finisher in a time of 19:04 while Richard Silk followed close behind in a time of 19:07. Matt Mann was next for Shawsheen in a time of 19:13 while Anthony Federico (19:22) and Dan Boudreau (19:41) were next.

After Mystic's Youssef Masud took seventh place, the Rams rounded out the top ten with Keenan Goodwin (20:53), Lars Hanson (21:08) and Hunter Bradanese (21:10).

In the win over Minuteman the Rams took the top three spots with Federico taking top honors in a time of 18:35 followed by Mann in a time of 18:40 with Silk nipping at his heels in 18:41.

Minuteman's Brendan Faulkner took fourth in a time of 18:59, but the Rams took the net four spots starting with Tirabassi in 19:51. Boudreau followed in a time of 20:14 while Bradanese finished in a time of 20:40. Cam Murphy earned his way into the top 10, finishing eighth in a time of 20:50.

After Minuteman grabbed the ninth spot, Shawsheen's Joe Sacco rounded out the top ten with Joe Sacco's finish in 20:56. One second behind him in 11th place was Shawsheen's Rzeszut.

On the girls side they downed Mystic Valley by a score of 21-35 and followed that up with a 20-42 win over Minuteman.

In the win over Mystic the Lady Rams missed out on the top spot as Mystic's Fallon Bushee blew away the field in a time of 24:01. But much like the boys in their matchup with Mystic the Lady took the next four spots to earn the key points for the win.

Shawsheen's Sam Richardson was the top Shawsheen finisher in a time of 26:45 followed closely by Christen Aliperta in 26:52. Angie Turco (26:52) and Haley Lynch (27:43) took fifth and sixth.

After Mystic's Elise Sheehan took sixth place, Shawsheen's Amanda Leonard grabbed a seventh place finish in a time of 29:24, while Jenn Thomas took tenth place for Shawsheen in a time of 10:15.

Against Minuteman the Lady Rams were once again denied the top spot as Minuteman's Melanie Estrada was first in a time of 24:00. Silk was the top Shawsheen finisher in 24:45 and the Lady Rams also took the next seven spots to roll to the win.

Aliperta took third overall in a time of 25:10, while Alyson Delano was fourth in 25:14. Leonard was fifth in a time of 26:50 followed by Richardson in 27:12, Turco in 27:33 and Megan Lynch in 28:24.

After Minuteman took ninth place, the Lady Rams grabbed the No. 10 spot with a strong effort by Shannon Belski in a time of 29:16.

Football

The Shawsheen Tech Football team showed tremendous improvement on Friday night in their second game of the season against Watertown in a game held at Woburn High.

After a rather lackluster effort in their opening week loss to Arlington Catholic last week, the Rams truly seemed to turn things around against Watertown this week with a tremendous effort, but unfortunately for the Rams it was not enough for them to come away with the win as they fell by a score of 25-14 to see their record drop to 0-2 on the season.

Along with showing great resilience from one week to another the Rams showed tremendous resiliency in this game, as they trailed 19-0 just six minutes into the game, but battle back to close with in 19-14 before the end of the first quarter before Watertown was able to put the game away.

"I was happy with our improvement and I was very happy with the way the boys did not give up," Shawsheen coach Al Costabile said. "It would have been very easy for them just to give up, especially after last week's game, but they showed great resiliency."

Watertown was led by the efforts of quarterback Joe Farrar, who threw for 292 yards in the game, after throwing for 318 in histream's season opening win last week.

Two Farrar touchdown passes, the first for 60 yards to Logan Reilly and the second to Giovanni Ortiz made the score 13-0 on the game's opening minutes.

"The kid threw the ball very well," Costabile said. "He always throws the ball well, and he had one of his best games against us. He showed great accuracy and he hit us with a couple of long passes."

Watertown extended their lead on defense moments after Farrar's second touchdown pass when Ortiz returned and interception 52 yards for a 19-0 lead at the 6:00 mark of the first quarter.

Shawsheen then began to fight back under the direction of backup quarterback Mike O'Hearn who was installed in the game on their next possession. He led the Rams on a 70 yard drive that was capped by a 30 yard run by senior running back Brian Ward to make the score 19-7 after Devon Pratt's extra point kick.

Ward had missed last week's game with a hip pointer, but he returned to the lineup in fine fashion rushing for 83 yards to go along with his touchdown.

"He did a great job," Costabile said. "He provided a spark for us not just with the touchdown, but by picking up some key first downs."

On Shawsheen's next possession, O'Hearn brought the Rams even closer with a 15 yard touchdown pass to junior tight end Devin Summiel late in the first quarter. O'Hearn executed a perfect play action to draw the Watertown defender up before hitting Summiel with a perfect pass to cut the deficit to 19-14 after another Pratt kick.

"Mike did a great job bringing us back," Costabile said. "There we were down 19-0 so quickly, but we got back to 19-14 just like that before the end of the quarter."

Overall O'Hearn threw for 103 yards, with Pratt catching four passes for 58 yards while Summiel had two catches for 34 yards.

After Watertown had extended their lead to 25-14 in the second quarter on another Farrar touchdown pass, the Rams had one more chance to pull closer, early in the second half when they had a fourth and one at the Watertown seven yard line, but could not convert.

That was the Rams last great chance, and Costabile knows that a first down there could have made a huge difference in the game.

"It was tough not to come away with points there," Costabile said. "If we score there all of a sudden we are down by just four points. It still would have been tough with the way their quarterback was playing, but we would have had a shot."

Under 12-1 Boys Soccer team tackles two opponents

As the Fall season kicks off for Wilmington Youth Soccer, the Boys U12-1 team is off to a fast start. On Saturday, September 10th, the Wildcats opened their Middlesex League Division 1A nine game slate with the Tanners of Woburn.

Wildcat midfielder Joe Mirabella wasted no time putting the home team ahead 1-0. Mirabella marked the ball on a Woburn goal kick, cut it off right at the 18' and deposited in the Tanner cage in the 2nd minute of play.

Wilmington continued to pressure the box in the Woburn end, resulting in a Woburn handball, and a Wildcat penalty kick. Newcomer Andrew Almeida was called on to take the shot, but couldn't convert, though the rebound came right back out to Andrew Dawson for another attempt, which Woburn's keeper smothered. It felt like a bit of a lost opportunity for Wilmington, but the boys continued to pressure the Woburn end, creating multiple scoring threats and forcing the Woburn goalkeeper to make several terrific saves.

Finally, in the 17th minute, Andrew Almeida finished a Christopher Grecco cross to double the lead. The Tanners, however, found their legs and Jarred Cummings scored a response goal in the 18th minute to tighten things up considerably. Both teams traded scoring chances through the remainder of the half. Jonathan Sears made several strong saves in the Wilmington goal to keep the lead safe. At the other end of the pitch, Woburn's keeper was preventing a blowout with some tremendous work. The half ended with the score 2-1.

In the second half, Wilmington's Dan Gracia and Chris Grecco combined to start the ball rolling, sliding it to Joe Mirabella on the left wing. Mirabella switched fields to Joe Rebeiro streaking up the right hand side. Rebeiro blew past the Woburn left back and crossed into the box where Mirabella slammed home a one touch shot, bumping the Wildcats lead to two, with less than 20 seconds gone in the second half.

Woburn restarted play at the center, but Wilmington immediately pressured the ball back to the Tanner end, and was awarded a corner kick for their hard work. Grecco hammered a laser from the right corner flag to the penalty mark, where Rebeiro headed it home to make it 4-1, all with less than three minutes elapsed in the half. Strong play from all the boys in the white jerseys kept Woburn hemmed in their half of the field.

Terrific defending from Riley Zaya, Vittorio Iocco, Jason Spizuoco, Alec Masiello and Thomas Hogan frustrated the Woburn mids and forwards. Andrew Dawson, who took over the Wildcat cage at the second half, handled all shots cleanly, starting the counter attack with some heady distributions. Woburn was awarded a direct kick in the 44th minute (handball) and Christian Deulofeu unleashed a wicked, right-footed shot right under the bar. Dawson got fingers to the ball, but couldn't get enough of it to deflect it over the net. Sixteen minutes left and the comfortable Wildcat cushion had a little air taken out of it.

The 'Cats continued to play a high level of soccer to keep ball possession, knowing the clock was as big a factor now too. Nathan DiMeco used his mind boggling step over /back heel move to turn a Woburn defender inside out. DiMeco also managed to win several key possessions by taking on and tackling a Woburn midfielder who stood at least a foot taller than him!

Wilmington brought pressure at all opportunities and in the 48th minute was awarded another corner. John Sears, who, when he isn't stuffing opponents in goal, is launching heavy, accurate corners or free kicks, delivered another beauty to the middle of the box.

The Woburn keeper managed to get a hand to the ball, but couldn't control Sears' effort completely. Making things worse for Woburn, Joe Mirabella was right on the spot, calmly settling the ball, sliding just a touch left, and dumping it in for a 5-2 Wildcat lead, and a nice fedora for himself.

Wilmington vs Waltham

Wilmington was eager to build on their season opening win over Woburn, and excitement buzzed through the navy clad group. Running through the warm-ups, it was clear that the 'Cats were focused, as well place strikes found corners of the net that are reserved only for sharpshooters. Keeper Jonathan Sears was also looking extremely ready, getting dirty early, and diving to take away low shots that were labeled for twine.

As the game progressed, Wilmington started to dominate the field position battle, and pressure at the Waltham cage was beginning to boil. There were several close calls as the 'Cats couldn't quite square it up to finish. Then, Andrew Almeida drove out of the left hand corner across the six yard box, beat his man and, as the keeper looked to close, calmly slid the ball to the right where Andrew Dawson patiently waited. Dawson cleanly right footed in a 1-0 in the ninth minute.

Waltham, warming to the task, quickly countered the Wilmington goal with some terrific foot skills, finding seams and widening the field. Wilmington's aggressive defenders quickly closed down space but the tricky and clever midfielders from the visiting team made trouble for the backfield group. Thomas Madsen used a terrific feint to the right side of the pitch, slid back left and delivered a beautiful low slider that keeper Sears got a piece of, but couldn't prevent from sneaking in at the far right post.

A highlight reel strike from the Waltham forward in the 13th. The teams battled back and forth, with both Sears, and the Waltham keeper, making eye popping saves until Dan Gracia and Chris Grecco used terrific combination play to draw the Waltham defense to the right side, and then found Joe Mirabella waiting on the left wing. Mirabella, as usual, buried the feed for a 2-1 lead in the 19th minute.

For the second time in a week, the Wildcats carried a one goal lead to the second half. Recognizing his stellar play and determination, the coaches asked Jonathan Sears to continue in goal and he readily agrees.

Again, the 'Cats take the kickoff down the field, where Joe Rebeiro converts a Dan Gracia feed less than 90 seconds into the half making it 3-1 in favor of Wilmington.

A quick substitution and the second group hit the pitch. Again buzzing the Waltham box, Andrew Almeida, spots Nathan DiMeco flying in from the right wing. Almeida's cross hits a Waltham defender and bounds in to the goal. A bad break for Waltham with the own goal, but academic as Almeida's feed was labeled for DiMeco's right foot. DiMeco was looking at 144 square feet...the lead has been tripled in less than five minutes.

Two things prevent Waltham from getting any closer in the match. Determined and ferocious defense by the backfield of Bobby Lord, Alec Masiello, Vittorio Iocco, Jason Spizuoco, Riley Zaya and Andrew Dawson. Wilmington also saw immense goalkeeping from Jonathan Sears.

Later on, the Wildcats would tack on three more goals. Thomas Hogan zips home a rebound of an Almeida blast in the 43rd minute. Riley Zaya converts from Hogan in the 52nd, and Zaya again from a Vittorio Iocco corner in the 60th.

E Pop Warner team opens its season

E Team Game 1 Wilmington E vs Winchester E

The Wilmington E Pop Warner team opened up its season against a tough Winchester squad.

Winchester struck first but it was followed by the first of Brian Gallucci's three touchdowns. Key blocks during the first touchdown run, from 55 yards out, came from Mark Valente, Derek Gallucci, Hugh Murphy, Ryan Santini, Adam LeBlanc, Ryan LeBlanc and Bill Doumlin.

Winchester responded for another score, and then Wilmington's Jerry Cobson followed with a terrific kick-off return. Wilmington's offense came back onto the field, and the team's offensive line of Steven Smolinsky, Jendre Abel, Ryan Santini, Tyler Cardello, Nico Piazza, and Mason Glover created a huge hole for Brian Gallucci's 60-yard touchdown run, his second score of the game.

drive.

Winchester would score again late, but the Wildcats did not let up and the offensive line dug deep creating a lane for Brian Gallucci's third score.

Game 2

Wilmington vs Reading

The Wilmington E Team played a tough back and forth battle against a formidable Reading Rockets squad. Reading struck first, and then Wilmington responded with a 45-yard touchdown run by Brian Gallucci. That score was made possible with huge blocks by Mark Valente, Shane Roberts, Jerry Cobson, Derek Gallucci, Ryan LeBlanc, Steven Smolinsky, Nico Piazza and Hugh Murphy.

Reading was held on their next possession with huge tackles from Wildcat defenders Kegan Gray, Jeandre Able, Billy Doumlin, Brady Robbins, Mikey Hersom, Tyler Cardello, Mason Glover, and Shane Penney.

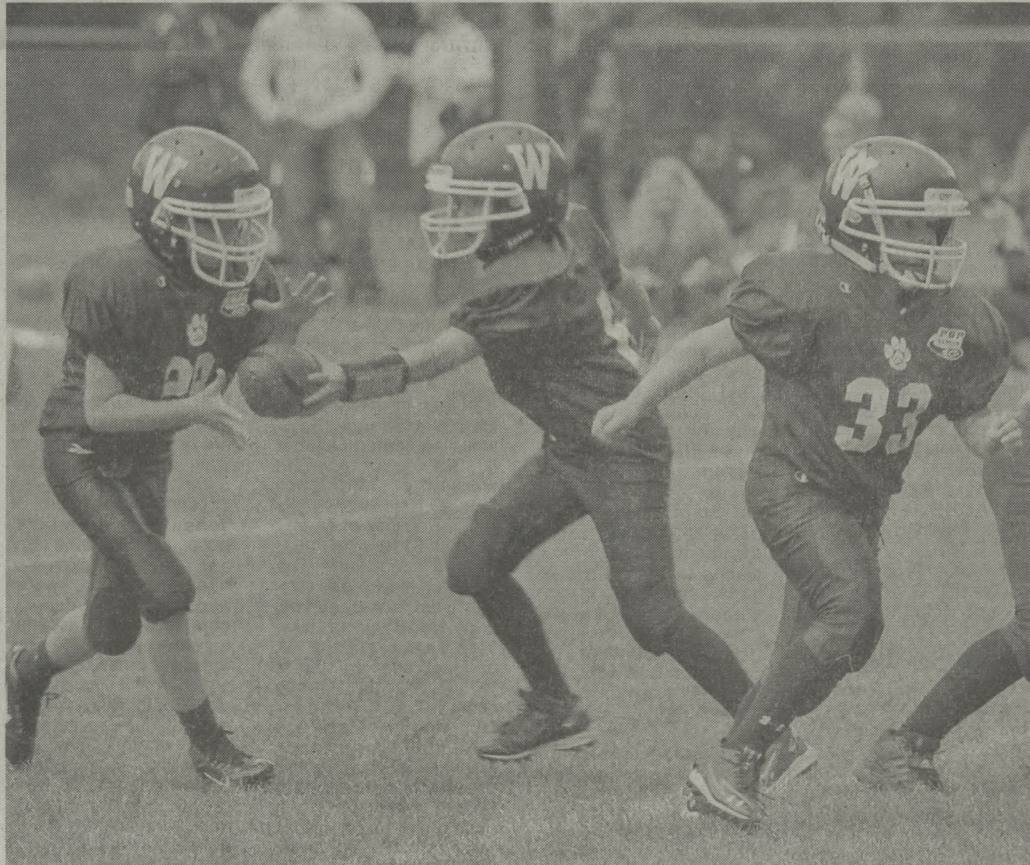

The Wildcats scored on their next possession. The drive started with a huge 25-yard scamper by Adam Leblanc that was followed by a 35-yard quarterback sweep by Brian Gallucci as he beat the Rockets to the end zone for his second score.

Reading would score again on a fluke kick-off return. The Wildcats were not finished as Sean Riley broke a reverse for 50 yards behind the blocking of Jack Rooney, Aaron Dancowitz, Shane Penney and Nico Piazza and Jeandre Able.

Wilmington ended the game with a huge defensive stand thanks to Mark Valante, Ryan and Adam Leblanc, Nico Piazza, Jerry Cobson, Dereck Gallucci, Shane Penney and Brady Robbins. The Wildcats would score their fourth touchdown of the day on a 55-yard quarterback keeper by Brian Gallucci, who followed the blocks of Steven Smolinsky, Jack Rooney, Aaron Dancowitz, Shane Roberts, Mason Glover, Billy Doumlin, Tyler Cardello and Mikey Hersom.

Wilmington travels to Arlington to face the Spy Ponders Sunday at 8am.

Major League Baseball Tryout dates

Wilmington Little League has announced the dates for their 2012 Major League tryouts. The tryout dates are Saturday 9/24 at 10am, Saturday 10/1 at 10am and Sunday 10/2 at 11am. To be eligible, players must be 10 years old but not 13 on 5/1/12. Eligible players who wish to play in the Majors must attend one of these tryouts. There will be no registration required to participate, as our registration process will not begin until November 1, 2011.

Typically, players who attend these tryouts played on teams in AAA, AA and A divisions the previous year. We also welcome new players and those who may have recently moved to Wilmington who are eligible. Tryouts consist of players performing in the field and at bat under the direction and evaluation of the current Major League managers. Each player will field ground balls, receive throws at first base, catch fly balls in the outfield, throw to bases and bat against "Iron Mike", WLL's pitching machine, during their 20-30 minute tryout.

In early December the managers will meet to draft their teams for 2012. Once the draft takes place, all of the players who attended tryouts will be informed of their status for next season.

Wilmington's 7th annual Half Marathon/5K race this Sunday

Wilmington's 7th Annual half marathon and 5K road race will take place this Sunday, September 25 at 10 Waltham Street in Wilmington, near WCTV. The event is from 10am-2pm and registration starts at 8 am. However, pre-registration is recommended. All proceeds will benefit scholarships for Wilmington High School students. To register visit RunReg.com or visit wilmingtonbusiness.com to print the registration form and then mail to Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, 226 Lowell Street, Wilmington, MA 01887. The Chamber of Commerce confirmed that Dick Hoyt and his son,

"Team Hoyt" will be participating in the 5K race. And after they complete their race, they will be selling and signing their books. In case you are not familiar with "Team Hoyt", his quick biography is below.

"Rick Hoyt uses a wheelchair. That has not stopped him from living a very full and amazing life. He's competed in the Boston Marathon 29 times and in Ironman Triathlons six times. He, along with his dad, Dick, have formed "Team Hoyt" and they have competed around the world doing marathons and triathlons.

The Hoyts have competed in over 1,040 athletic events in the last 33 years. Dick, 71, is a retired Lt. Colonel, having served in the military for 35 years. Rick, 49, is a graduate of Boston University with a degree in Special Education.

Rick was born in 1962 as a spastic quadriplegic with cerebral palsy and as a non-speaking person - but despite these disabilities, Rick's mind and spirit have always been strong. His family supported his quest for independence and inclusion in community, sports, education and the workplace, culminating with his graduation from Boston University.

Dick travels the country doing corporate and community presentations, educating the public about disability awareness and promoting the Team Hoyt motto, "Yes You Can". Through his presentation, Dick shares his lifelong commitment to changing attitudes and educating others on the world of disabilities. He and his family have seen an impact from their efforts in the area of public attitude toward people with disabilities.

You may visit their website at www.teamhoyt.com to learn more about their story and see many pictures of their journey through their 30 years of racing."

Wilmington Youth Hockey Round-Up

Mite 1's face off against Melrose

Mite 1's

The Wilmington Mite1 youth hockey team traveled to the Tewksbury Ice Arena to face-off against Melrose M1 for the first time this young season. It was Wilmington's second game in this young season as they took the ice knowing what potential they had, and they didn't disappoint.

Drew Gallucci, Maura Fiorenza and Jack Farrell started on offense, while Peter Kourkoutas and Derek Gallucci stayed back to protect Wilmington's number one net minder Sam Cedrone. Wilmington's James Kourkoutas found a streaking Nolan Vigeant with a pass off of the boards which sent Vigeant in all alone firing a beautiful wrist shot only to be stopped by the opposing team's goalie's helmet. Matthew Ardito teamed up with Jimmy McCarron yet again on defense stopping the opposition at the blue line before any play could materialize.

Brendan Ardito, Ryan Ackerley, and Evan Munro came flying in off a line change and peppered the goalie with a few shots, Melrose desperately tried to clear the puck only to be kept in by Peter Kourkoutas. Ardito, Ackerley and Munro kept the puck in the zone for what felt like eternity as Brendan Ardito finally broke through the goaltenders grasp for his first goal of the game making it 1-0 Wildcats.

Jack Farrell was ferocious as he stopped a play with a poke check, while Evan Munro showed the fans how fast he could rush up the ice. Wilmington's lead didn't last long as Melrose squeaked a goal by a sprawling Sam Cedrone to tie it up at one goal each. Wilmington showed their colors as they did not sit back while retaliating quickly as Peter Kourkoutas got the puck to Jack Farrell who rushed it up with a pass to Drew Gallucci for his first goal of the game, making it 2-1 Wilmington.

The Wildcats didn't stop there as Jimmy McCarron found Nolan Vigeant breaking out, as Vigeant made sure not to be denied while scoring his first of the game making 3-1. Derek Gallucci made a awesome defensive stop in front of the Wilmington net, while Jimmy McCarron dove across to deflect a shot. Maura Fiorenza found herself all alone with the puck and wasted no time shooting it into the top corner for her first of the game making it 4-1.

The Wildcats were hungry for more as James Kourkoutas bounced a pass off of the boards and connected with Nolan Vigeant for his second goal of the game making it 5-1. Matthew Ardito continued to show his skating skills as he chased down a played to stop a potential three on one. Nathan Alberti gained the blue line showcasing his stick handling abilities moving the puck easily. Sam Cedrone was tested with a few shots from different angles to keep Melrose at bay. Peter Kourkoutas found Maura Fiorenza only to be denied.

Drew Gallucci was relentless but again the goalie denied the attack with nice saves. James Kourkoutas persistence got him a goal as he chipped in his first of the season while attacking the net, making it 6-1. Brendan Ardito was hungry for more as he skated down the side and labeled a shot in the bottom corner for his second of the game making it 7-1. Ryan Ackerley skated hard two way hockey and created scoring chance after scoring chance for himself and his line mates. Evan Munro made an awesome pass from the corner to Maura Fiorenza for her second goal of the game making it 8-1.

Matthew Ardito, Jack Farrell and Drew Gallucci kept the puck in the offensive zone for at least two minutes, attacking from all sides, with Drew finally breaking through scoring his second of the game putting the score at 9-1.

Mite 2 White

The Wilmington Mite 2 White Wildcats never gave up against a talented Twin City Mite 1 team, falling 8-0, at the Janas Arena in Lowell on Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats had chances throughout and in the first minute of the game Aydan Churchill had a quick break-away with an impressive first shot on goal followed by center Joey Cornish, who nearly blew the lights out, literally, with a powerful, elevated shot. The defensive zone was kept clear by Cameron Gagnon and James Fisher which led to more breakaway chances and shots by Nate Packer and Churchill. Liam Crowley sacrificed his body in a tremendous effort to keep the puck out of the net, taking one shot directly off the grill of his mask. Down five goals late in the first, with the clock ticking dry, Chase Perault broke out on one last exciting breakaway, ending in another shot on goal for the Wildcats.

The second period showed the grit and determination of a team giving it their all. Defensemen Michael Daniels, Ryan Dusablon, Fisher and Gagnon stepped it up a notch, only allowing two goals. The offense was persistent as forwards Patrick Callahan, Churchill and Tristan DiMeco continued to drive to the opponent's net. Center Keegan Gray made nifty moves to keep the puck in the zone and feed the other forwards breaking to the net.

The Wildcats maintained the momentum throughout the period and in the last minute, again it was Perault snapping off a beautiful wrist shot that smacked in the goalie's glove.

The Wildcats defensive front improved right before our eyes, only allowing one more goal in the third period.

Goalie Liam Crowley glided across the crease with ease to make some awe inspiring chest saves. Daniels and Dusablon thwarted continuous offensive attacks with great stick checks and puck clearing. Persistent offensive drives by Cornish and Gray kept the Wildcats' hopes alive. The team grew stronger as the game went on, giving the Wildcats an exciting foundation to build on.

Squirt 2's

The Wilmington Youth Hockey Association Squirt 2 team returned to the ice on Sunday evening, taking on Tewksbury at the Breakaway Ice Center. Max Churchill was back in goal, with defensemen Joseph Hartzell and Zachary Smith starting the game in front of him. The Wildcats broke out from the opening face-off with Jared Russell crashing the net and scoring only fifteen seconds into the game. Tewksbury responded with a tying goal a few minutes later, but Anthony Bowker put Wilmington up again with an assist from Taylor Padulsky. Again Tewksbury evened the score, but Chris Bernazani scored to give the Wildcats a 3-2 lead at the end of the first period.

Early in the second period, Jared Russell scored his second of the game to extend the lead, but Tewksbury got back in it with goals on the power play and at even strength to tie the game at four all midway through. At this point, Wilmington took command with Nicholas Farrell scoring his first goal of the season, followed by Jared Russell capping an end to end rush with his third goal of the game, and Justin Crowley scoring his first with a minute remaining in the period.

With an assist from Alex Fitzler, Crowley scored again in the opening minute of the third period to put the Wildcats up 8-4. With what appeared to be a comfortable lead, the Wilmington coaches shuffled the line-up to give a turn on the forward lines to Conor Hill, John Spina, and Cameron Banks who started the game on defense. Alongside regular forwards Morgan Vigeant and Jillian Fisher, the blue liners did their part, but couldn't get on the score sheet.

Tewksbury chipped away with three third period goals, perhaps taking advantage of the Wildcats playing in unfamiliar positions, setting up a tense final two minutes. With the game on the line, Wilmington tightened their play and kept the action to the boards and away from the net. Tewksbury pulled their goalie for the final minute, but the extra attacker didn't help as the Wildcats held on for the 7-3 victory.

Reading, Wakefield, Melrose may combine Municipalities look to save money by combining Health Departments

By PAUL FEELY

READING - Three local communities are taking measures to create a regionalized health department, which could take effect early next month.

Wakefield, Reading and Melrose will join forces to create a regionalized health department, if Melrose officials give the go-ahead in the form of a vote scheduled to be taken October 5. Wakefield and Reading officials have already approved the plans, and Melrose Mayor Robert Dolan has given the proposal his blessing.

If all parties approve, the regionalized department could be up and running as soon as October 10.

The department would be headed up by Melrose Health Director Ruth Clay, who is very familiar with the Reading health department - it's where she once worked. She headed up Reading's health department before taking the job in Melrose.

"The demographics are quite similar and the key will be the Senior Health Inspector and the Full-Time Health Nurse," Clay told the Wakefield edition of the Daily Times Chronicle.

Under the proposal, each community would retain its respective Board of Health, but would pool resources for a number of other services, creating savings and greater benefits for residents of three cities and towns.

According to the agreement, the parties shall share the services and costs of the Director of the Health Department of Melrose ("Director"), or a successor hired through the standard personnel practices of Melrose. Reading and Melrose shall each maintain their local Board of Health which shall retain their own legal authority and autonomy as provided by law.

The Director shall report to the Reading Community Services Director - Town Planner. In the event the parties jointly agree that this reporting structure is not mutually beneficial to their contractual arrangement, they may, by agreement, modify said reporting structure to accomplish the purposes of this agreement.

The term of this Agreement shall commence on the date of execution hereof, and shall expire on June 30, 2014, unless earlier terminated.

AREA HEALTH DEPARTMENTS in Reading, Melrose and Wakefield will be combining services in an attempt to save money through consolidation. Local health departments provide many services including local flu shot clinics.

On or before May 1st of each year during the Term of this Agreement, the parties will review their contractual relationship, the terms of which are set forth herein, to ensure that this Agreement continues to satisfy the needs and objectives of each community.

The parties will share the services and costs of the incumbent Director of the Health Department of Melrose, Ruth L. Clay, MPH, or a successor hired through the standard personnel practice of Melrose.

Melrose will pay the salary of the Director of the Health Department. Reading will contribute its share of the costs by paying to Melrose a variable sum, as required by the terms and conditions of this Agreement, per fiscal quarter during the Term.

Melrose Mayor Robert Dolan has expressed his whole-hearted support for the arrangement.

In a letter to then-Chairman of the Reading Board of Selectmen James Bonazoli, Dolan wrote:

"I would like to thank each one of you, and especially Peter Hechenbleikner, as we finalize this historic agreement and partnership between our communities."

"Over the past year, Melrose and Wakefield have implemented the combining of our two health departments. There have been challenges, but overall we have seen unquestionable success. It should be clear that throughout our initial implementation Peter strongly advocated including Reading as the second phase of this program."

"I believe we will be successful for the following reasons:

"1. Melrose, Wakefield, and Reading are very well run communities. It is always a pleasure for me to deal with extraordinary public administrators like Peter Hechenbleikner and Steve Maio. We work well together and have a mutual commitment to make this work."

"2. The Melrose Board of Aldermen and the Wakefield and Reading Boards of Selectmen support their managers and are not afraid of innovation. This is why I believe this will be the first of many potential partnerships in the near future."

"3. The independent Boards of Health in our communities are made up of

by Paul Feely

"DRIVE" A COOL CAR-CHASE FILM

RYAN GOSLING STARS AS "DRIVER," a stunt driver for movies by day, getaway driver for armed heists by night. "Drive" is a must see for action fans. It brings the car-chase movie back to a level of coolness it hasn't had for a few years.

"DRIVE"
GRADE: ***

Some of the plot elements in the new action thriller 'Drive' may not add up, but overall the sum of the parts equals better-than-average action entertainment.

Ryan Gosling stars as a Los Angeles wheelman for hire (the character has no name, and is simply listed as Driver in the credits), stunt driving for movie productions by day and steering getaway vehicles for armed heists by night. Though a loner by nature, Driver can't help falling in love with his beautiful neighbor Irene (Carey Mulligan), a vulnerable young mother dragged into a dangerous underworld by the return of her ex-convict husband Standard (Oscar Isaac).

After a heist intended to pay off Standard's protection money spins unpredictably out of control, Driver finds himself driving defense for the girl he loves, tailgated by a syndicate of deadly serious criminals. But when he realizes that the gangsters are after more than the bag of cash in his trunk - that they're coming straight for Irene and her son - Driver is forced to shift gears and go on offense.

Nicolas Winding Refn directed this film, which is very reminiscent of several past gems of the same genre, such as 'The Killing' and 'Blade Runner' (especially the chase scenes at night).

Gosling plays a not-exactly likable loner who works as a garage mechanic by day, doing his stunt work by night. He is very picky about his after-dark schedule, turning down jobs he deems to be too messy.

Things change when his garage boss (played by Bryan Cranston of Breaking Bad) wants him to drive a race car sponsored by a shady individual, played by Albert Brooks.

Along the way, Driver meets and becomes involved with his neighbor Irene, portrayed by the talented Carey Mulligan.

When Irene's husband returns from prison, he and Driver become involved in a heist at a pawnshop. This sets up the film's showdown, where Driver shows he can do more than put the pedal to the metal.

The opening getaway scene in Drive is one of the best car chases you will ever see on film. It's not all about screeching tires and near-crashes, but plays out as a tense game of cat-and-mouse with Gosling avoiding the LAPD not only with his driving skill, but his brains.

It's a must see for action fans, and brings the car-chase movie back to a level of coolness it hasn't had for a few years.

"CONTAGION"
GRADE: ***

'Contagion' is a movie about an apocalypse, one that starts not with a bang but with a whimper. Actually, it's more like a snuffle.

Contagion follows the rapid progress of a lethal airborne virus that kills within days. As the fast-moving epidemic grows, the worldwide medical community races to find a cure and control the panic that spreads faster than the virus itself. At the same time, ordinary people struggle to survive in a society coming apart.

The end arrives with coughs, with handshakes, with touching elevator buttons. It also makes clear that it could easily happen in our modern world (and already did, in the Spanish Flu pandemic of 1919) and would likely be worse, given the rapidity of international travel and contact these days.

The fact that the film will send shivers down your spine is a tribute to the skill of director Steven Soderbergh, who paints an unsettling picture of the frequency of inadvertent skin-to-skin contacts and then ramps things up with the first signs of a respiratory ailment for which there is no vaccine. The hard-working scientists and government officials here have two goals - figure out where the disease came from, and how to combat it. This is essentially the plot of the movie, which cuts back and forth between several stories that are playing out simultaneously.

Patient Zero is Gwyneth Paltrow, just back from a sales trip to China, who gives in to temptation and has a "layover fling" with an old boyfriend. She's feeling "jetlagged" upon arrival at home, and her husband

Matt Damon isn't too concerned until she collapses. Then their son collapses too.

When people die from this disease, they simply lay down and pass away - there's nothing gory or horrific about it, aside from the rapidity at which humans succumb to the disease.

Before long, there aren't enough body bags to go around, and the very fabric and foundations of modern society begin to break down, all across the globe.

Guaranteed you'll leave the theater wondering if you have enough Purell or facial tissues at home. Just make sure you wash your hands when you get there.

"THE DEBT"
GRADE: ***

The twists in 'The Debt' are shocking and mesmerizing. An intelligent espionage thriller, it is also one of the best movies of 2011.

Set in Tel Aviv in 1997, a book launch sets the drama. Former Mossad secret agents Rachel Singer (Helen Mirren), Stephan (Tom Wilkinson) and David (Ciarán Hinds) were responsible for capturing and killing the notorious Surgeon of Birkenau, Doktor Bernhardt (Jesper Christensen) 30 years earlier. Hailed as heroes and lionized, Rachel and Stephan's daughter has written a book about the event.

As Rachel reads a portion from the book at the banquet, the audience is taken back to East Berlin, 1965. Rachel (Jessica Chastain) has joined Stephan (Marton Csokas) and David (Sam Worthington) to lure Bernhardt - living as an OB-GYN fertility specialist under a new identity - into a trap, kidnap him, and return him to Israel to stand trial for his crimes against humanity.

All is not perfect though, as back in 1997, David has turned up and he's not doing well. He's very troubled and commits suicide, forcing Rachel and Stephan to confront an old truth. Stephan, now wheelchair-bound and still an important and powerful Israeli agent, has a lot at stake - his reputation for one. Rachel does as well, as her life as a symbol of justice, is threatened.

The film leaves the audience asking the question: "What would you do?"

Directed by John Madden, all the roles are expertly played, especially Jessica Chastain, who has the most onscreen interaction with the Doktor. Christensen has the toughest role, and the most riveting.

BOOK SALE AT WOBURN LIBRARY

An admission-only Book Sale pre-sale event will be held at the Woburn Public Library, 45 Pleasant Street on Friday evening, September 30. This pre-sale event gives all the first chance to select books and materials.

The Book Sale will continue during regular library hours on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Sunday, afternoon. Appropriate for all ages.

For more information call the library at 781-933-0148 or woburnlibrary@gmail.com.

COME WRITE A NOVEL THIS FALL WITH NANOWRIMO

This year the Flint Memorial Library is participating in Come Write In! as part of NANOWRIMO, National Novel Writing Month.

In preparation the library is offering two writing workshops in October. In November the library will provide space for writers to work on their novels.

NANOWRIMO is a fun, seat-of-your-pants approach to novel writing. Participants begin writing on November 1. The goal is to write a 50,000-word novel (about 175 pages) by midnight November 30. A computer counts the words.

On Thursday, October 6 at 7 p.m. fiction writer Tara Masih of Andover will provide flash fiction exercises to prepare people.

On Thursday, October 27 at 2 p.m. Nancy Parsons of North Reading will present, "Feeding Fiction - Using Your Memories to Nurture a Novel." She will provide tips for using your own experience to craft and enrich writing.

All events are sponsored by the Friends of the Library. Registration is requested. Please call the library at 978-664-4942 to register.

Crafts and Gifts Festival at Austin

The arrival of fall means pumpkins, colorful leaves and the annual Friends of Austin Craft and Gift Festival at Austin Preparatory School.

More than 70 vendors will be selling a variety of wares including jewelry, cards, home decor items, handbags, gift baskets, and many other goods. The fair also features bake and flower sales and raffle prizes.

The event is organized by the Friends of Austin, a volunteer parent group, and serves as a fundraiser for the school.

Admission is $3 and parking is free. The fair hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, September 24. It will be held in Austin's multipurpose facility (gym), 101 Willow Street in Reading.

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

COMING UP (OCTOBER IN LYNNFIELD)

In preparation for the annual Friends of Lynnfield Library Used Book Sale in October, the Friends group notes that it is "actively seeking donations of adult, children and young adult hard cover books and paperbacks, music CDs, and DVDs.

"To make it as easy as possible for residents to donate materials, the Friends group offers a home pick-up service. If you have paperbacks, hardcover books, music CDs, or DVDs to donate, simply call Friends' Board member Alexis Gilbode at 781-608-4179 to arrange a time for a Library Friends volunteer to pick up, and provide a receipt for, your donation at your home.

"Boxed or bagged donations may also be left at the circulation desk, in the Library foyer, or in the large blue container located at the bottom of the Library entrance ramp. Small and large adult paperbacks, DVDs, music CDs, and hardcover or paperback children's and young adult books are needed.

"With the recent proliferation of book donation options in town, we realize people have to make choices about where they donate materials," said Nancy Ryan, Director of Lynnfield Library. "We hope people will consider sharing their donations. This is historically our primary fundraiser. Donations to the Book Sale support the Library 100 percent. Items that go unsold will be offered to benefit other local community organizations."

The annual Used Book Sale will take place on Saturday, October 15 in the Meeting House with a preview on Friday, October 14, also at the Meeting House. To be eligible to attend the preview, one must be a 'Friend' or join the organization that evening. For more information: www.foll.org.

ZERO WASTE DAY (SATURDAY IN TEWKSBURY)

Zero Waste Day (ZWD) will take place this Saturday, September 24th from 9 am to 1 pm, in the Wynn Middle School Parking Lot at 1 Griffin Way in Tewksbury.

According to the Tewksbury Recycling Committee and Tewksbury Congregational Church who are "joyfully coordinating this event," ZWD is "an opportunity for you to share your used but usable 'stuff' with people in need by bringing it to a central location (Wynn Middle School Parking Lot) where you can donate it to one of nine local charities."

This year's charities include: Big Brother Big Sister, Bikes Not Bombs, Boston Building Resources Central, MA Mosquito Control, Community Giving Tree, Got Books, Lazarus House, Lowell Humane Society, Lowell Wish Project, Mission of Deeds, More Than Words, MSPCA/Nevins Farm, Paper Retriever, Project Home Again.

Acceptable donations include: clothing, shoes, household goods, furniture, decorative items, bikes without rust, building supplies, books/CDs/videotapes/DVDs, baby gear, linens, pet supplies, appliances, and tires off rim. Unacceptable donations would be anything you wouldn't share with a friend; anything broken or with missing pieces, stains, rips, or rust; hollow core doors; and toys.

You can even recycle electronics at a reduced cost through the Big Brother Big Sister Foundation.

TOWARD THEIR BEST BEHAVIOR (TODAY IN READING)

As the School Committee listened, "... Sara Bard, Behavioral Health Coordinator and Superintendent of Schools Dr. John Doherty presented a draft of the Behavioral Health Task Force Recommendations," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle." According to Bard, this is a spin-off from "The Race to Nowhere" film presentation.

During the summer of 2011, 26 teachers, administrators, parents and community members representing the Reading Public Schools met to develop a set of recommendations to address the growing behavioral health needs of our students. All of the schools were represented. Dr. Doherty has been very involved with this task force. He told the group that he believes there is a connection between behavioral health and substance abuse.

"Over the last several years there has been an increase in student anxiety, hospitalizations, drop-outs, school phobia and other student at risk issues...."

Using the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education Behavioral Health Framework and Assessment tool, the Task Force focused on six critical areas: leadership, professional development, access to resources and services, academic and non-academic supports, school policies and protocols, and collaboration with families and communities.

In answer to several questions, Doherty noted that "one of the things we are doing is taking resources and using them effectively," reminding the Committee that the guidelines are still in draft form and may be subject to some revisions.

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

In Super Bowl XX vs the Chicago Bears, which Patriot scored their only touchdown of the game?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Sophomores Melissa Effertz (Oceanside, Ca.), RACHEL MCCARTHY (READING, MASS.) and Ali Ferraro (Kingston, N.Y.) each scored one goal and set up another as No. 1 UMass Lowell defeated No. 10 Bentley University, 4-1, in a non-conference field hockey clash at the Cushing Field Complex.

The win was the third straight for UMass Lowell, which improved to 3-1.

UMass Lowell overcame a sluggish start in the first half and went down a goal in the 10th minute. Junior D Kelsey Mattson fed a ball into the crease for junior F Nicole Dion, who finished into the top left corner.

UMass Lowell persisted, however, and was rewarded in the 33rd minute when, following a corner, McCarthy centered to senior D Kayla Littig (Carver, Mass.) who tipped inside the far post to bring the River Hawks level into the half.

UMass Lowell maintained the pressure and scored three goals in the opening 15 minutes of the second half. Just over two minutes in, Ferraro sent a pass into an unmarked Effertz in front of the goal, who finished nicely.

Five minutes later, the River Hawks were rewarded a penalty stroke after a scramble in front of the Bentley cage. McCarthy calmly tucked the attempt into the top right corner of the goal.

Effertz repaid Ferraro in the 51st minute when she broke free down the left side, drew Bentley G Julia Powell forward before crossing to Ferraro who touched into an open goal.

UMass Lowell outshot the Falcons, 24-4 overall (16-1 in the second half) and 12-2 on target. Sophomore G Melanie Hopkins (Harwich, Mass.) had one save, a breakaway in the 41st minute off Dion, which she timed well to smother.

Powell stopped seven shots for Bentley.

•Need some help with the trivia question? It wasn't Steve Grogan.

•Sophomore M Daniel Galvin (Attleboro, Mass.) set up two goals and sophomore G Chris Maierle (Wantagh, N.Y.) stopped a penalty kick to lead UMass Lowell to a 4-0 triumph over Merrimack College, 4-0, at Warrior Field.

Two River Hawks - freshmen Homero Morais (Somerville, Mass.) and ERIC DESANTIS (WOBURN, MASS.) - opened the college accounts while Maierle, sophomore Bruno Bonicontro (Marlborough, Mass.) and SENIOR F MOHAMMED SAEED (WOBURN, MASS.), who scored on a bicycle kick in the 61st minute, provided the highlights.

"We needed a fast start the way we did in our last game (at Dowling, a 2-1 loss) and to keep the pressure on," said head coach Christian Figueroa. "We defended very well, especially in the early going when Merrimack was coming after us. We tried to identify Merrimack's strengths and we did that very well."

Morais opened the scoring in the fifth minute when Galvin possessed on the left flank and struck a low hard cross to Morais on the run, who tapped home inside the near post.

UMass Lowell maintained the pressure and it paid off in the 15th minute. A failed clearance went to Galvin, who volleyed from the left side back into the box to Bonicontro, whose side volley soared inside the left post.

Merrimack had a golden chance to cut the lead in half in the 20th minute when Galvin was whistled for a handball in the box. Senior M Evan Burokas drilled his attempt inside the left post, but Maierle guessed right to tip the ball wide and clear.

"It was a good penalty kick, taken real hard," Figueroa noted. "But Chris knew which way he was going. He made a great save."

As Bonicontro's goal was highlight reel, Saeed's was one for the ages. Following a scramble in the 61st minute, freshman D Juan Moreira (Leominster, Mass.) headed back into the box where an unmarked Saeed and caught the Warriors by surprise.

DeSantis capped the scoring five minutes later when he won a ball on the right side, penetrated, cut inside between two defenders and slotted inside the left post.

Merrimack had the better of possession, evidenced by 17-11 edge on shots (6-5 on target) and an 11-3 advantage on corner kicks.

Maierle stopped five shots before being replaced in the 77th minute by sophomore Connor Askins (Boston, Mass.), who went untested. Sophomore Matthias Drummond and senior Evan Berube and each had one save for Merrimack.

•The UMass Lowell Athletic Hall of Fame will welcome five new members to its prestigious ranks on Friday, Sept. 30 as part of its Dream of Perfect Games Celebration of Sport at the Inn & Conference Center in downtown Lowell.

The class of 2011 features athletes whose accomplishments helped raise the bar for future River Hawks with both outstanding individual and team success. The inductees include FORMER FOOTBALL PLAYER TOM BRADLEY ('98, TEWKSBURY, MASS.), a standout wide receiver and punt returner from 1989-93, and baseball's Ryan Kearney ('98, Salem, N.H.), a top-notch pitcher who led the River Hawks to three NCAA Tournaments from 1994-98.

They will be joined by Becky Regula ('02, Hudson, N.H.), softball's speedy outfielder from 1999-02 who helped set the school record wins as a freshman; Patrick Morasse ('06, Lowell, Mass.), a five-time All-American runner from 2002-06; and two-sport standout Julie Handy Drinkwater ('06, Yorba Linda, Calif.), a star for both the volleyball and track and field programs from 2002-06.

Members of the class of 2011 will be honored in the Dream of Perfect Games ceremony beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tickets cost $30 per person and can be purchased at the Athletic Business Office in the Costello Athletic Center; or by calling 978-934-2345. More information on the Athletic Hall of Fame is available at www.goriverhawks.com.

TOM BRADLEY (FOOTBALL, 1989-93)

A star wide receiver and feared punt returner, Tom Bradley led the River Hawks to a 31-7-1 record from 1989-93. Upon his graduation, Bradley held or had tied 11 school records, all of which still stand today.

UMass Lowell football was revered during Bradley's tenure, having lost just three games his first three seasons and culminating in a 10-1 record in 1991 and an appearance in the NCAA Tournament.

Bradley finished his career with 2,627 receiving yards and 23 touchdowns. Among his many records, he set new highs for passes caught in a season (59) and career (163), longest reception (83 yards) and most yards on punt returns in a season (221).

"Thomas was perhaps the most electrifying game-breaker ever to embrace the gridiron at UMass Lowell," said Dennis Scannell, who served as head coach from 1986-92. "He could singlehandedly turn a contest around whenever he touched a football."

"I was very excited when Thomas and many other all-scholastic players decided to enroll at UMass Lowell," Scannell added. "His class was the beginning of a very special era for the football program."

A recipient of numerous individual honors, Bradley was a two-time New England Football Conference All-Star and a Football Gazette All-American Honorable Mention in 1991.

When the River Hawks moved to the Freedom Football Conference during his senior year, Bradley proceeded to lead the league in receptions per game (6.6), total receptions (59), receiving yards (893) and receiving touchdowns (5). He was honored as a FFC First Team All-Star.

"Thomas's entire family, especially his grandmother, led an entourage of the most loyal and enthusiastic fans who attended every game," Scannell added. "It is most rewarding that he has spent his entire adult life as a role model for youth involved with athletics in his hometown of Tewksbury."

Bradley completed his degree in history in 1998 and is currently a captain with the Middlesex County Sheriff's Department. He and his wife Alison live in Tewksbury, Mass. with their four children: Lindsay (21), Rachel (12), Thomas (9) and Timmy (5).

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION:

Irving Fryar, WR. Irving was the 1st overall pick of the 1984 draft. He was a wide receiver out of Nebraska. The Patriots lost 46-10 to the Bears in Super Bowl XX. They scored the initial 3-points on a field goal, and then at the end of the game Irving scored a touchdown.

Health

committed volunteers who have the best interests of our citizens at heart. They are knowledgeable in their field and progressive in implementation.

"4. The citizens and business communities of Melrose, Reading, and Wakefield are highly educated and understand that we live in challenging times, that municipal models need to evolve toward maintaining high quality of service for less cost, and that the models that we put forward must now be sustainable during good and bad times. They support new initiatives that might not be common practice and understand that health initiatives, from flu shots to restaurant inspections to drug and alcohol awareness, are regional in nature. By working closely together to create formal policies for the region, we will improve public health and create healthier communities."

This regionalization effort comes as part of larger, similar efforts across the state, encouraged by the Patrick-Murray Administration.

In 2005, the Massachusetts Coalition for Local Public Health (CLPH) pooled member resources to fund a statewide survey to gather basic information about the local public health workforce and infrastructure in the Commonwealth. The CLPH commissioned the Institute for Community Health (ICH) to develop and implement this survey.

Self-administered surveys were distributed to local public health authorities in Massachusetts between June and December, 2005. The study was introduced at regional and sub-regional public health emergency preparedness meetings across the state and via direct email to local public health leaders. A total of 191 out of 352 local public health authorities participated in this study, representing a 54% response rate.

According to survey results:

•Nearly all participating communities reported having a local board of health comprised of 3-5 members. Only 26.7% of all board of health members included in this survey have participated in a training and education program offered by the Massachusetts Association of Health Boards.

•Local public health authorities rely primarily on municipal funds to support programs and services.

Despite an increase in expectations and responsibilities placed on local public health authorities over the last 3 years, the majority of communities reported very small increases in municipal funding for public health services.

•Public health departments serving communities with populations of less than 40,000 (88% of sample) reported an average increase of 3% in municipal funding between 2004 and 2006. This small increase is likely to reflect cost of living salary adjustments and is insufficient to cover the costs associated with the expansion of responsibilities for local public health authorities.

•Public health departments serving communities with populations greater than 40,000 reported the greatest increases in municipal funding over the last 3 years. However, the reported 10% average increase is still insufficient to support the hiring of additional staff to meet expanding demands and responsibilities.

•With the exception of communities with populations less than 5,000 residents, most local public health authorities receive some funding from private, state, and federal contracts and grants. Larger communities (>40,000) bring in more outside funding than smaller ones.

•There are vast differences across the state with respect to staffing of local public health departments. Approximately 63% of communities with populations of 10,000 or less reported having no full time public health staff to serve their residents. This stands in stark comparison to communities with populations of 20,000 or more, all of whom reported at least one full time staff member.

Easy ways to boost home value

Though the housing market might not be booming, there are still buyers out there looking for a place to call their own. Some potential sellers might prefer a patient approach to selling their homes, choosing to do so when the market rebounds and homes regain some of their lost value. Other sellers might not have a choice and must make due with selling in a lackluster market.

Regardless of which category you're in, there are easy ways to boost your home's value. Making minor changes to a home can add to your asking price, whether you're putting your home on the market this week or waiting for the market to rebound. The following tasks might not take much effort, but they pay dividends.

* Work on the yard. An appealing lawn is still a great way to catch a prospective buyer's eye. When a home boasts a lush lawn and well-manicured trees, it's hard to ignore that For Sale sign out front. If landscaping has proven an Achilles' heel in the past, make an effort to take better care of your property in the months ahead. It doesn't take long for even the most neglected lawn to rebound from disrepair. By the time you feel confident to put that for sale sign out front, you might just be putting it up in a lush lawn no buyer can resist.

* Upgrade appliances. Prospective buyers won't be thrilled if they walk into a home and see outdated appliances. Some might even feel older appliances indicate a homeowner who cared little about appearances and might begin to wonder if there are any additional areas that might have been neglected around the house. Stainless steel appliances in the kitchen and even new fixtures in the bathroom are aesthetically appealing and tend to excite buyers. Homeowners who aren't immediately putting their property up for sale can gradually upgrade their appliances to lessen some of the financial toll such purchases take.

* Replace the carpet. A clean carpet might make a world of difference to a home's inhabitants, but a new carpet will be more appealing to prospective buyers. Choose a neutral-toned carpet that will boast a more universal appeal.

* Paint the home. A fresh coat of paint or new siding is always attractive to prospective buyers. If your home hasn't had a new coat of paint in awhile that might make buyers feel the home is musty or old. Many buyers judge a book by its cover, and sellers want their home's exterior to be as attractive as possible. Homeowners can also paint rooms inside the home to give it a fresh and welcoming feel.

* Clean up around the house. A cluttered house will almost certainly repel buyers. Buyers want a home that's roomy and well kept, but clutter creates the opposite impression. Organize the closets to make them appear more roomy and clean up any areas that have become cluttered - consider temporarily renting a storage unit to house excess stuff from closets. Basements or utility closets might be handy for storage, but they should be open and clean before hosting an open house. The less clutter a home has, the more spacious it will appear and the more money sellers can likely demand for the home.

kitchen is open to the family room. From the kitchen sink, you can gaze out across the conversation bar, into the family room, patio, and beyond. A floor-to-ceiling pantry lines the wall section closest to the nook.

Utilities and a master suite are to the right of the family room. The Bingsly's master suite boasts a roomy walk-in closet and a private bathroom with oversized shower, linen closet, and dual vanity.

The utility room also offers direct access to the garage, ideal for unloading supplies in comfort and safety. It can also double as a mud room and pet sleeping area.

This Week's Sampler: The Bingsly

Bingsly blends classical facade, up-to-date interior

The Bingsly is a transitional ranch-style home with neo-classical ambiance. You notice it primarily in the brick veneer-covered porch support column and corners, which are accented with raised corner quoins.

Inside it is more contemporary than classical. Plenty of natural light spills into the high-ceilinged entry through a sidelight and transom.

A wide opening on the right leads into a window-bright living room with three right-angled corners, and one that's clipped. This creates some interesting decorating possibilities. This room's location makes it convenient for use as a home office, if preferred.

Access to the secondary bedrooms and a bathroom is down the entry hall on the left. Continuing forward, you pass a set of display shelves on the left, just before the view opens up into the vaulted and richly windowed family room. More light washes down through two large skylights. The windows that fill most of the rear wall include a bayed eating nook on the left. An atrium door there offers access to the wide patio.
